PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who wast and art and who evermore will be, we come to Thee with grateful hearts for the lavish way in which Thou hast dealt with this Commonwealth and this people. Thy gifts are as varied as the State is vast, with its gateway on the ocean and its shore on the lake; with its tall mountains and its fertile plains and treasures beneath the soil, Thou hast surely given unto us a delightful heritage and everyone of these communities are here represented by these men. Grant unto them that they may truly know the needs of each and every place. Oh, we beseech Thee that their interests may be wider than those of their own community; that they may realize that they are only a part of a greater community and that they may not in their zeal for local advantage do an unintentional harm to any but rather grant that they may see something more than a neighborhood wherein and that they may be inspired by the thought of a brotherhood wherein all shall prosper and all shall be blessed because each is willing to recognize and know his neighbor and his wants. To this end, then, help Thou these men in the breadth of truth to deal wisely with all. Amen.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution and move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Resolved, That House Bill No. 279, File Folio 387, entitled:

An Act requiring the publication of all legal notices and legal advertising in the English language and repealing all acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent therewith be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. FINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say just a word before the vote is taken on that motion in explanation of it, so that we may know the purpose of the bill we are voting to put back on the calendar. The bill provides for the eliminating from our legal advertisements of everything except the English language. The bill has been reported from committee with a negative recommendation, and all I ask at this time is to have it put on the calendar so that it may be fully considered by the House. In doing so, I am perfectly willing and do it for the purpose that it may be referred back to the same committee with the understanding that we may have hearings on it before it is reported out. It seems to me that this matter should go back on the calendar and get a full hearing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, before this bill is killed and taken off our calendar permanently——

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. There is nothing before the House.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a yea and nay vote on the question.

Mr. FINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the vote taken now will either put this bill back on the calendar to be reconsidered fully by this House or will permanently kill it. The bill presented is not sectional in any sense——

POINT OF ORDER.

r. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.
re is nothing before this body but the calling of the roll.
e SPEAKER. The gentleman's point of order is over-
l. The gentleman from Crawford (Mr. Bolard) will ceed.
r. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, the bill is not sectional or in any sense. The bill applies to the entire State of nsylvania. It does not refer to our big cities or our rested districts. It refers to making the English lange the only language in which the legal procedure of State shall be conducted. To my mind there is no on why an advertisement of a legal nature should be e in the Yiddish, German, Italian or Chinese language
'ennsylvania any more than we should have our bills, ur legal forms, or our deeds made in those languages go on our records. We have allowed this thing to o into our practice in Pennsylvania and it has been ng worse and worse. At first for a long term of years ly provided for publications in the German language.
917 it came to the point where we passed a bill in House opening the way for the publication in any form ewspaper—did not specify what it was to be.
any foreigner desired to start a newspaper at any point e State, then they had the right to put legal adverments in it, and that legal advertisement had to be put the court records under affidavit, and who would in-et it? It is a perfectly anomalous condition. I say time has come when we should be Americans, that e should be no language in this jurisprudence except English language. I think the House should vote to the bill back on the calendar and give it full con-ation and hearing in the Committee, and then, in er order and with due deliberation, if they see fit to the bill and go on publishing in foreign newspapers, can do so. I ask to have the bill go back on the cal-r so that it may be fully considered.
n the question recurring,
ill the House agree to the motion?
e yeas and nays were required by Mr. Bolard and Mr.
ey, and were as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 4.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up resolution No. 4, File Folio 253, and move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Whereas It is fitting and proper that soldiers sailors and marines who enlisted or were drafted into service in the Army and Navy of the United States during the war with Germany and Austria should be permitted to retain their uniforms and clothing as a memento of their gallant service therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby address and does petition the Congress of the United States and the Secretary of War for the United States to permit returning soldiers sailors and marines discharged from further service to retain their uniforms and clothing as a memento of their services

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: This resolution speaks for itself. During our Civil War, when the Boys in Blue and the Boys in Gray came home, they were allowed to keep their uniforms. Now, when our boys come home from this great world war, they are told to return their uniforms in a certain number of days. I think it is not right that they are not allowed to have their uniforms. They should be permitted to keep them as mementos.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: It is with pleasure that I rise tonight to second the motion of my friend from Berks county (Mr. Rothenberger), because he came in his early days from that part of the country we have just been in war with, and because on the lapel of his coat he holds a service badge for three of his sons who have served loyally, honorably and patriotically for the cause of this country; and the time will come, when the history of this great world war is written, when the Pennsylvania Germans who came here at the time we needed them, will prove their loyalty to this country and their work will compare with any other nationality that has come to this country in previous times. Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, it may be annoying to some members of this House to have one speak on a resolution like this, but I want to say to you members of this House that two years ago when my boy volunteered his services and the parents of those other boys stood at the railroad station and saw them tramp to the trains and to the training camps with their civilian clothes on and knew that when they got there in those camps, those patriotic boys contributed those civilian clothes to the Belgian children over in Europe or there were some second-hand peddlers there who purchased the clothes off those boys' backs and when they came back two years almost from that time — I am not speaking now of my own boy who landed at Ellis' Island with a dead soldier's clothes on his back, and with the soles of his feet out of the shoes of a dead marine, without a penny in his pocket, landing here in these States after serving fourteen months in the trenches and on the battlefields of France, — I am not speaking of that, my friends, but of others who have landed here without a penny in their pockets, without decent clothes on their backs, and are wandering through our streets in the City of Brotherly Love almost begging for work so that they might be able to get the substance to live on. The great conflict we think is over and we seem to have no use now for the wounded boy, have no use for the boy who comes back to this great State which has furnished nearly three hundred thousand of those boys who have patriotically and loyally sacrificed their lives and blood on the battlefields of France for Democracy. I say now that the National Government is sending them back here without clothes on their bodies or shoes on their feet. Only two weeks ago today a boy who had laid wounded five months in France came to my house. He was in my son's company and labored there in France for fifteen months. He told me he was ashamed to go home with the clothes he had on, and that he had landed in our State without a penny in his pocket. He stayed there until he got the money collected by patriotic citizens of our city, and went to a store on Market street and bought clothes so that he could look presentable when he went home to his parents even though he was a crippled soldier. There is another boy from the same company still over in France and he says in a letter sent to my son in the hospital at Rahway:

"I thought that when the war was half over we would be treated better, but we do not get as much now as if the war was still going on. The army is on the blink. Nevermore for me in the army." This boy served nineteen months in the trenches of France, and now is doing laboring work over there when he ought to be home. Perhaps this resolution offered by my friend from Berks may be the starting point that we may demand that the Pennsylvania boys who sacrificed their life's blood for Democracy, may be the starting point of a movement to bring them back here to this great State of ours.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to, and the resolution adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

An Act to regulate the sale loan lease gift and possession of revolvers pistols and other firearms of a size which may be concealed upon the person

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. This is the same bill in a little different form that we had here two years ago under the guise of police regulations, regulating crooks and to prevent their carrying firearms. This bill provides that no man shall have a pistol or any firearms in his posession or on his person or in his residence, and in order to do so he must go to the county sheriff and get two freeholders to go on his bond to permit him to have that gun in his possession, and it also requires him to renew that every year. If this bill becomes a law, every citizen in Pennsylvania will become a criminal if he has a gun or any firearms in his possession, if he has not the necessary permit. Foreigners are not allowed to carry guns, but I think the lives of every decent American citizen in this state should be protected and it would be an easy matter for a highway robber to come over from New York and tote a gun into this state and break into your house at night time and he would not have a gun there to protect himself and would be at the mercy of such characters as that. In addition to that, people that have guns in their homes as old heirlooms, that have been in their homes for years if they don't have a permit and if they don't go and renew that permit every year they would be amenable to this law. I think it should be voted down.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, this bill, as I understand it, is the result of a conference between the District Attorney of Philadelphia County and a number of citizens of Philadelphia. As the gentleman who has just spoken states, there was a bill here similar to this one two years ago; it was somewhat similar in character, but conditions have changed greatly since that time. At that time things were different. I think that such a bill is necessary for the protection of citizens of Pennsylvania today. Conditions in the city of Philadelphia today particularly demand legislation of this character. I venture to say that there is not a day passes in the city of Philadelphia now that there are not from twelve to twenty-five arrests made of men carrying deadly — particularly loaded guns — and a large percentage of these men are not citizens of the State of Pennsylvania nor of the United States. A great proportion of them are foreigners. Today men are being held up almost nightly on the highways and bi-ways by bands of highway men; they are being robbed; our police are working night and day doing to the best of their ability, but they cannot protect the entire population of the city of Philadelphia, because they have not sufficient men to cover the territory. I can see no reason why this bill should not pass. I cannot see any reason why any man who wants to possess a gun should have any objection to having a license granted to him. This bill provides that two citizens shall certify to his reputation as a man who is respectable and that he is a safe man to have a gun. The State of New York has seen fit to pass an act of this kind, only it is more drastic. I can see no good reason why any citizen in this State should not be in favor of this bill.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, this bill applies to Union County and counties in other parts of the State as well as to Philadelphia and therefore not alone to Philadelphia. I know that conditions exist in that city which do not exist in the interior counties. We must consider the state at large. It seems to me that this bill will not bring about entirely the results that are desired. After a permit or a license has been granted to any one to have in his possession or own a firearm I can see no just reason why that person the following year must again go to the sheriff and secure two bondsmen and a Pennsylvania license or pay again a license fee of one dollar. I don't believe that is right and fair. Another thing, there is a chance of gross injustice being worked in this bill if it becomes a law. The sherifi may not feel friendly towards someone who may apply for a license and make it rather inconvenient for anyone to secure a license to own a firearm.

The gentleman who preceded me has spoken about the New York State law. I understand that this law is copied, somewhat, after the New York State law. I will also inform the gentleman that the Supreme Court of the State of New York has declared that this law in New York is unconstitutional, and I have great doubts whether this law would be constitutional in Pennsylvania. In article 1, Section 21, of the State Constitution we have this: "The right of the citizens to bear arms in defense of themselves and the State shall not be questioned."

I think that it is an injustice to ask any citizen of this State to be compelled to secure two bondsmen and to go up to the sheriff and secure an annual license. If this bill simply provided, in the first instance, in securing a license, and not to be repeated each year, I think that is all that would be necessary and I think it would be necessary and I think it would be an injustice to pass it as it stands.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Union, who has just preceded me, I wish to say that this bill does not provide that any man who desires to carry a gun must secure two bondsmen. If you will read the act carefully you will clearly see that it clearly provides that he must secure a citizen who owns property who can satisfy the authorities that he is a man of good reputation. It does not require that any citizen must go on any bond whatsoever, of any kind. Further, it provides that if a sheriff should refuse a man the license to carry a gun, he has a right of appeal to the Court of Quarter Sessions where his case can be determined by a competent court.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I notice in Section 6 of this bill these words: "It shall be unlawful for any person to have in his possession or custody any such pistol, revolver or other firearm unless authorized to own and possess the same by a permit issued to him as in this act provided."

I think that is a very vicious proposition. A man cannot be safe in his home; a man cannot own a gun or have any firearms in his home to protect himself against a highwayman or against a burglar or against any man of that sort. We want something in our homes when we have these crime waves; every man should have in his home something that would enable him to protect himself; that is something that should not be taken away from us.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, while I am not a lawyer and am incapable of analyzing the making of laws until after they are enacted, but it seems that an unjust law takes away some privilege that he has, and that in making laws it is for the protection of society. There is another angle in looking at this question that has not been mentioned. During my recent years of activity this came directly under my observation. It is this: the easiest thing, as the law is at present, is for a fifteen, or seventeen-year-old boy, young, inexperienced and irresponsible, to present himself at any store or pawn shop and secure a revolver and possibly goes out and kills his fellow playmate within a day or on the night in which he purchased it. That in my mind is a measure that is intended as a menace against human life. Secondly, my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, mentions that we ought to have firearms to protect ourselves from footpads, and highway robbers when we have these crime waves. I consider it suicidal for a man to reach for his gun when he is held up on the highways. I don't know of a case on record where a man successfully reached for his gun, in his hip pocket, when he was waylaid on the street, when he was held up and a gun was stuck up at him, and when he was covered. I do believe, though, that in opposition to this that if there is not a law which will be honestly enforced so that the criminal part of our society can be brought in and searched and cleaned up of arms they carry, that we will suffer, and if that is done, that they will not be so plentiful. I have never read of a hold-up man who is not a coward; he will not tackle a man with his fist or use any physical effort. We may measure this with a number of boys slaughtered annually in the great dawn of their youth. Secondly, it is of no protection to the individual because a man don't carry a gun successfully and protects himself from highway robbers; the robber gets the drop on you, and it is useless. I consider it a duty that we owe to society that this lawmaking body pass some law with teeth in it that will be enforced by the proper authorities, when properly presented and amended, and that we pass that law in order to give authorities the right to clean up the present wholesale possession of guns that are held by men. I advocate the passage of this bill on these grounds.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: In answer to the sponsor of this bill and the gentleman who has just been speaking, I want to say that they are both talking about this bill being for the protection of the right kind of people who are carrying guns on the street. Any man familiar with the law of Pennsylvania at the present time knows that it is a violation of law now to carry a concealed weapon. This bill goes further than that. It provides that you cannot have a pistol or gun in your home to protect yourself against any burglars without a permit, and to get this permit you must get good people with real estate to recommend you to the sheriff, and then the permit is only good for one year, and you must go through this process each year. I think the bill is ridiculous on its face.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, two years ago we had a bill something like this before the House, and after considering it at that time we deemed it unwise to pass it. I think today we can safely say that conditions have changed, and one of the things indicating the changed conditions is the number of articles appearing in our newspapers and that which we hear from our fellows on the street, telling us that men in khaki uniforms have held up men at the point of a pistol. I do not say they are soldiers, because I believe that many of those who appear in khaki uniforms are not soldiers, but are taking advantage of one poor reason or another to prey upon an almost willing public. We find that is true not only of the so-called soldier, but also a number of those who never smelled powder who are going around toting big guns and making trouble. I am informed by one our Assistant District Attorneys in Philadelphia County that at the present time there are on average of four homicides a week there, and most of these are produced by firearms. Now I, from Philadelphia, appeal to you, my colleagues, representing the people of the entire State, not to legislate in favor of the few, but to legislatve in favor of the many. I feel that by passing an act of this kind we are legislating against a few highwaymen, rascals and robbers, and legislating in favor of the general good of our whole people.

Let us take the question of the personal permit. My colleague from Allegheny (Mr. Baldrige), calls attention to the fact that it requires all those who do possess guns to get a license and to get the writing of two persons owning real estate to support their application, and those persons must also be known to these owners of real estate so that they can say in writing to the sheriff that the applicants have been known to be people of good character. Now let us take a number of people throughout the State who own guns. It may be in the rural districts that the gun is more common than in the city districts ,and that probably is a question in the country districts first of protection and second of hunting. I doubt very much if any hunter, any real sportsman, would have an objection to getting a license. Furthermore, I doubt if any man who wants to protect his home would stop for an instant in paying a dollar license fee and getting his friends to certify that he is a person of good character, even if that has to be done once a year; because as I view this subject, it is more important, if we must carry pistols, to see that those who possess them are decent, law-abiding citizens, and those who are not and have no pistols cannot get them legally because they are not law-abiding and decent people.

I say in answer to the reference to the Sears Roebuck importation, that that can be attended to in due time. Like all novelties, it must have its run, and then dies out, and the sheriffs and law officers of the various counties will see that those parties who sneak guns in will be apprehended and punished.

And on the whole, what law-abiding man will not give a dollar in exchange for the protection this law will afford to the life of his wife and children? Look what we were willing to pay—look what we considered it worth to avoid the loss of a single man on the other side. We were willing to go to the limit in order to avoid the sacrifice of our soldiers and to prtect their lives. We are willing to go the limit to protect our loved ones, and if it means merely the paying of a dollar and getting the signatures of several persons as to our good character, I cannot see why the general good of the State should not be conserved and that the rascals who are taking advantage of the return of soldiers and lack of work, that those fellows ought to be stopped. There is one matter that came to my mind in recent days which I deem of importance. Recently there have come to our shores certain men who fought on the other side, and they have brought with them machine guns. They are merely works of passing curiosity. But we are approaching the days of reconstruction, and we do not know what the conditions of the world or our State will be during those days, and I claim, in circumstances like that, it is a matter of most serious concern and danger that we should permit some irresponsible persons to get hold of these German machine guns and turn them loose on the good citizens who keep the law: and those who carry out the law are entitled to certain rights that they must impress upon the people. I feel that this bill has much merit in it, and we, as the representatives of this Commonwealth, should support it.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: In answer to my colleague on the left, the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Baldrige), I would like to ask how many men sitting in this chamber tonight, of the two hundred seven law-makers, carry a gun on them tonight or at any time. We are not legislating against the responsible, decent, law-abiding citizens of this great empire. We are legislating against the irresponsibles, the vicious and the criminal. We are legislating for the responsible: we are legislating against such men and types of men who recently shot five people in the city of Philadelphia—one man in one day with one gun. Under the present regulation or permit he could not possibly have had the pistol in his possession. We are legislating against men who come from all quarters of the country, and irresponsibiles who have come from all centers of industrial activity during the last two years, of whom we know nothing either of their antecedents or history. We are legislating for the decent, home-loving, God-fearing, law-abiding, liberty-loving citizens of every congested district of this State and every center that is liable to attack from such vicious characters, and, my friends, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hope that the empty sentiment of my friend,—well-meaning though it is,—that we are legislating against the protection of the law-abiding citizens of this State will not be taken seriously. We are not. We are legislating for the protection of the law-abiding citizens of this State, and will be upheld by every district attorney who is a prosecutor of crime in this Commonwealth.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, when I spoke before on this measure I did not speak with the intention of voting against the measure. I simply spoke against it in the form in which it appears. The objection I have to the measure is the fact that a man cannot have a gun in his own home, and I therefore ask at this time for unanimous consent to amend this bill, amend section six, page five, line five, by adding after the word "custody"—

The SPEAKER. The bill is on final passage, and cannot be amended on final passage.

Mr. SOWERS. I ask for unanimous consent—

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Bennett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Bennett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENNETT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr Speaker, I desire to know how the renewal of the license each year will add additional protection under this bill to anyone,—why after a license has already been granted to an individual to carry firearms, he must apply for a renewal of that license.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, here to my right, made a remark that we are living in abnormal times, peculiar times as regards crime, and it is not a theory, it is a fact. This application for a permit yearly as I see it—I am not a doctor of law as I said before—it appears to me to be a very efficient precaution. If a man this year should get by in applying for a license to carry a gun, and if after investigation a year hence it was found that he should not have one, he would have to re-present himself and be refused, were he not worthy, even after carrying it for a year.

Mr. SINCLAIR moved the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Allum, Barnhart, Bechtold, Glass, Golder, Haines, Haldeman, Kooser, McGeary, Milner, Morgan, Norton, Palmer, Patterson, Pike, Powell, Statler, Steedle, Sterling and Ulsh.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, at the conclusion of the vote taken on this bill, my very good friend, Mr. North, tendered to me his sympathy and condolence as a Philadelphian. Mr. Speaker, during the discussion on this bill, I was very much amused, aye, even distressed, to find that my colleagues from Philadelphia, as usual, with intentions of the very best, were holding up the good city of Philadelphia to ridicule. Mr. Speaker, there is not a city in this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that has offered more to its citizens and to its residents than the city of Philadelphia. All over the country the fame and the name of the city has spread, and unintentionally the impression has been given here tonight that Philadelphia is not a city of brotherly love, and not the good, clean city that it is. It is true that Philadelphia has had its share of crimes and criminals. Many have been driven to our city by the more active prosecutors, perhaps, in the other counties of this Commonwealth We do not receive them with open arms. They come, and they are there. My purpose is not to laud the city of Philadelphia, but to say to you, gentlemen, that if you have any intention of coming to Philadelphia, come on; and I promise you safekeeping while you are there.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 103, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the ninteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighteen) entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of a special detective officer in any of the several counties of this Commonwealth" by providing for the appointment of one or more county detectives and fixing their salaries payable from the county treasury

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and Houe of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighteen) entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of a special detective officer in any of the several counties of this Commonwealth" which reads as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the district attorney of any county in this Commonwealth with the approval of the court of quarter sessions of the proper county whenever said court and district attorney may deem it necessary to appoint an officer as a special detective whose duty it shall be to assist in obtaining such evidence as shall be directed by the district attorney for the Commonwealth in all criminal cases and perform such other duties as the court may direct be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the district attorney of any county in this Commonwealth with the approval of the court of quarter sessions of the proper county whenever said court and district attorney may deem it necessary to appoint one or more county detectives whose duty it shall be to assist in obtaining such evidence as shall be directed by the district attorney for the Commonwealth in all criminal cases and perform such other duties as the court may direct

The county detectives herein provided for shall receive annual salaries of not less than twelve hundred dollars and not more than twenty-five hundred dollars each payable from the county treasury.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally,

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I represent one of the smaller counties of the State. I dare say my county is practically an agricultural county. I am glad to say we have very little crime there, and we have little need of detectives. At times it is necessary to hire a detective; but I believe that, if an average were taken of the expenses that Union County pays for detectives, it would not be one hundred dollars a year. Now to include the smaller counties of the State in a bill of this character, giving to a county detective twelve hundred dollars, it would practically put us in the position of paying many times over for the services of a detective what he is worth, or not hire a detective at all. For that reason, I think it is well for the members of the smaller counties, where we have little detective servic, to vote against this bill. I would agree, if it would let out the smaller counties, to go with them: but when it includes them, it seems to me it gives the detectives in the smaller counties too much for the services performed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

STATEMENT RELATIVE TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, we believe that this is destined to be a red letter day in the annals of our beloved State, for today we have proclaimed to our waiting citizens and to the Nation that Pennsylvania is abreast of the times on the great question of ratification, that we have ratified the Sheppard Amendment to the Consitution of the United States.

It is fitting that we should do this. It is discharging a duty to God and an obligation to mankind. It will supplement abolition of human slavery with Prohibition of the liquor traffic ,a greater slavery. It is conferring a blessing on our citizenship, the magnitude of which we cannot now fully comprehend. It will be the greatest act of conservation ever conceived. It will do more to better economic conditions than all the laws on the subject our Legislature has passed in a score of years. It will be a greater 'Safety First' movement than all the rules and regulations of our Department of Labor and Industry.

Viewed as a moral question there was nothing else for us to do. Viewed as a political question we were in honor bound to ratify. This body is overwhelmingly Republican. Last Spring the Republican Party nominated a man for Governor who frankly said that he favored National Prohibition. Every one knew that he meant it because his word is as good as his bond. The Democratic Party nominated a man for Governor who just as frankly said he would not favor National Prohibition and every one knew that he meant it, for he, too, is a man of truth and veracity. Thus the issue was fairly joined and the question of prohibition became a political party measure. Oh, how we went to it and how gloriously we won. Hon. Wm. C. Sproul, the 'dry' candidate was elected over Eugene C. Bonniwell the 'wet' candidate by the largest majority ever given a Governor, and that, in a State, given to giving the large majorities.

Five weeks ago today, after taking the oath of office, our splendid Governor delivered an inaugural address that is so clear and comprehensive, so progressive and so fitted to the times, that it is hailed as a State paper of more than usual importance. It is a safe chart for us to work by and, if we aid our leader in carrying out its recommendations, Pennsylvania will take a foremost place and lead in progress in these progressive times. In that inaugural—in that political chart the Governor said, with special emphasis:

"The amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors throughout the nation has become a part of the fundamental law of the land. The necessary three-fourths of all the States of the Union whose Legislatures sat last year, or organized early in this year have already indicated their ratification. While Pennsylvania's action upon the amendment does not now affect the situation in so far as the ultimate result is concerned, I hope that prompt affirmative action may be taken by the Legislature that Pennsylvania may not be out of line with the practically unanimous sentiment of her sister states in the greatest and most far reaching self disciplinary measure ever taken by any Nation in all history."

There it is, nobly said, ably put. Were we to disappoint our Governor in his "hope" that "prompt affirmative action might be taken by the Legislature?" Were we to refuse the first request he made of us? I repeat, Mr. President, we were in honor bound to ratify.

Again, the House of Representatives had redeemed the party promise given last summer. They had ratified. Truly there was nothing left for us to do but concur in their action.

Again,—If Abraham Lincoln could have lived, he would have been a leader in the movement for prohibition. He would have added his simple and majestic eloquence to the impassioned appeals of John B. Gough, Neal Dow, Frances Willard, Josiah Howard, Jas. G. Dailey and the host of temperance advocates who have been the means of moulding public opinion for more than sixty years. If he could have visited us, he would have stood where Mr. Bryan stood last week and told us that strong drink is a greater evil than was human slavery. Strong words these. Do you doubt them? Then hear his words, delivered at Springfield, Illinois, before the Washingtonians, a temperance society which existed before the Civil War. After recalling the Revolution of 1776 and referring to the evils of slavery he continued:

"Turn now to the temperance revolution. In it we shall find a stronger bondage broken, a viler slavery manumitted, a greater tyrant deposed; in it, more of want supplied, more disease healed, more sorrow assuaged. By it no orphans starving, no widows weeping. By it, none wounded in feeling, none injured in interest; even the drammaker and dram-seller will have glided into other occupations so gradually as never to have felt the change, and will stand ready to join all others in the universal song of gladness. And what a noble ally this to the cause of political freedom; with such an aid its march cannot fail to be on and on, till every son of earth shall drink in rich fruition the sorrow-quenching draughts of perfect liberty. Happy day when—all appetites controlled, all poisons subdued, all matter subjected—mind, all conquering mind, shall live and move, the monarch of the world. Glorious consummation.

"And when the victory shall be complete—when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on the earth—how proud the title of that land which may truly claim to be the birthplace and the cradle of both those revolutions that shall have ended in the victory. How nobly distinquished that people who shall have planted and nurtured to maturity both political and moral freedom of their species."

What more need be said. It was a voice from beyond the tomb, a message from high heaven. We could not, we would not disregard it.

Again, Mr. President, Pennsylvania ratified for Abolition and ratified for Prohibition. She has never been "out of line with her sister states" on any great issue for the public welfare, and could not waver now, for today we have ratified and thus maintained the high standing of our beloved State.

Pennsylvania has never faltered in the making, or march of progress, of this mighty Nation. Independence Hall and Germantown, Brandywine and Valley Forge, Lake Erie and Gettysburg—sacred shrines and fields of fame on Pennsylvania soil, attest the valor of her sons in every war. As Sirius and Aldebaran, Betelgeux and Bellatrix and other brilliant orbs, are to their constellations in the heavens, so is Pennsylvania to the galaxy of states in the Union. A star of the first magnitude, an empire in itself. The Keystone of the Federal Arch of 1787 and the Keystone of the Federal Arch of 1919. It would have been a disgrace even to have thought of voting her "out of line with her sister states" aye, it would be an everlasting shame.

Jeanne D'Arc heard imaginary voices, saved France and crowned Charles VII. Time will end 'ere her fame fades. We heard living voices. They gripped us and our action here today with that of our sister states will receive the plaudits of grateful mankind and these United States will be rolled into a scrool 'ere a grateful people cease to bless our action.

Finally, Mr. President, and members of the Senate, we have stood by our Governor, whose honesty of purpose you know, our Governor who for so many years was a leader in this body, held up his hands, redeemed his pledge, fulfilled his hope, voted to ratify and all is well.

Help Thou them to rise to the occasion; bless Thou them with that ability and insight and willingness to render such service as may be pleasing in Thy sight and beneficial to their fellowmen. Amen.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill in what respect it differs from the bill presented in this House in 1915. I would like to have him explain its provisions.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Palmer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PALMER. Yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to explain the provisions of this bill.

The method provided for effecting the escheat of moneys and property returned to the Auditor General under the provisions of the Act of June 7, 1915, P. L. 878, and the Amendment thereto of July 6, 1917, P. L. 725, is so elaborate that it will be found in practice to be impracticable in the greater number of cases. Those acts provide that escheats shall be effected through the means of a bill in the nature of a bill in equity filed by the Attorney General in which the depositary or fiduciary and all the depositors or beneficiaries shall be made parties defendant. It frequently happens that a depositary will have hundreds and even thousands of small deposits made by as many depositors. Under the acts aforesaid it will be necessary to either serve a copy of the bill in equity on every one of those depositors (the probability being that their whereabouts are unknown) or failing that to make service by publication.

This bill proposes that instead of escheating such moneys, the same shall be paid into the State Treasury on petition of the Attorney General to be refunded, with interest, to the owners thereof at any time on making proof of ownership to the Auditor General, State Treasurer and Attorney General.

This method is simple, inexpensive, and its constitutionality is undoubted under the decision in Commonwealth vs. Dollars Savings Bank, 259 Pa., 138 (1917).

There have been reported to the Auditor General under the aforesaid Acts of 1915 and 1917 over a million dollars of unclaimed deposits by depositaries. Many of these deposits will undoubtedly be claimed by the depositors when they have been notified by mail and advertisement of the existence of such deposits as is required by said acts. It is safe to say, however, that the payment of at least five hundred thousand ($500,000.00) dollars of such moneys can be simply and inexpensively secured if this bill is enacted.

There is no hardship upon the depositaries, because these moneys will not be taken from them under the provisions of the bill, if it appears at the hearing that the said items were not properly subject to escheat under the provisions of any act of the General Assembly. There is no hardship upon the depositors because the moneys may be refunded at any time on their making proof of ownership.

Mr. SCOTT. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. PALMER. Yes, sir.

Mr. SCOTT. What provision is made as to the informant as to the escheat?

Mr. PALMER. There is no provision made at all.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 3, line 2, by striking out the word "dollars" before "four" and inserting the word "dollars" after "four".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, four years ago a bill similar to this one made its appearance in this House and met its fate. I am sorry that it seems necessary to propose this bill again. There is no demand for it, from the sentiment that I can collect from the people who are affected by this bill for such legislation. It means the ripping out of every township and every borough and city assessors within its provisions. I cannot understand why it is that we are ready at this time to take the privilege and the responsibility away from the people themselves in assessing property. Gentlemen, I fear it is a dangerous piece of legislation for there is no sentiment in its favor and if there is I shall be glad to hear it. Since the appearance of the bill in 1915 I have at all times heard vigorous protests against such legislation. I don't want to stand here and talk to you at length on the various things that may happen because of the provisions in this bill, but you can readily see what may happen. It means an additional expense to the counties. It is due to the people because of the service that they choose a man who will make a fair assessment. It does not mean that there is an unfair assessment. If there is not a fair assessment, then it is due in a form of government like ours to have it and there is a mistake in the whole system. If there is anything unfair in a form of government we have our remedy. I am opposed to this bill for four distinct reasons. The first one is this: under its provisions a man from a city may have the privilege and the prerogative to go out and assess property in a rural district. Gentlemen, that is not fair. There is nothing fair or there is no justice in a privilege of that kind. I will read Section 4, which is as follows:

"The said board shall divide the county into convenient districts and shall appoint one subordinate assessor for each district."

I don't think that you are quite ready to acquiesce in a provision of this kind. In the third place, too much power in the hands of a few men. We should not allow such arbitrary powers placed into the hands of men. You know as well as I do that some of the men who are now appointed are really incompetent to properly attend to the duties thereof. In the fourth place, it means that the poor man will suffer and the rich man will profit by these things and it brings a prestige to the men who are in power. I trust that you will agree with me, gentlemen, and keep this bill from the statute books and allow the assessors to perform their work as they are doing it at the present time.

I have here petitions numerously signed praying for the defeat of this bill and I trust that you will defeat it.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, this the same old bill that has been here in 1913, 1915, and 1917, and I understand it has been defeated several times. As has already been stated, there is no real demand for this bill. As I understand it, it is an idea that comes from Schuylkill County. I want to call your attention to the danger of passing special legislation of this character. This bill automatically takes in Berks County after 1920 and that is our main object to it. Before this bill passed second reading I went to the sponsor, the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Palmer, and I asked him to raise the minimum of population of the bill from 200,000 to 220,000. This would have left Berks County and made it applicable to Schuylkill County after 1920, but I got no compromise of any kind. The only answer I received was that if the bill did not suit to be against it and the only recourse that is left to me is to oppose it on the floor of this House. I understand there is a somewhat similar system now in use in Luzerne County but in that County the Board of County Assessors is appointed by the Courts and not by the county commissioners. That one great evil in any system of making assessors in this way is that of favoritism and who would believe for one moment that county commissioners are any less susceptible to favoritism or politics than are the ordinary assessors who are elected by the people.

I don't think that this is the time when our boys are just coming back from Europe after their splendid showing for democracy and say to the people of Pennsylvania, "We will take the government out of your hands and we will put in the assessor system a sort of autocracy; we will place the power in the hands of three men" who are really the creatures of two men. You realize that under this system the county commissioners will appoint this board of three men and the men on the board of county commissioners will control so that the entire system of assessment will practically rest in the hands of two men. If you adopt this bill now and there is a demand from the people of Pennsylvania for this bill, I want it to be made general, providing it is a good thing. However, I ask you gentlemen from the interior counties and from other parts of the state, is it right and foist upon Berks County a system that you don't want in your own county and which you never would or can tolerate for a moment in your own county. I appeal to your sense of fairness whether you feel that it is right that you should place upon us a system which you don't want, a system which you would not for a moment consider if it applied to your own counties. I know that it is the custom among members to say, "Well, the bill does not affect us, so we might as well vote for us." Gentlemen, that is a bad principle. A bill that affects us or affects somebody else is a dangerous one because this bill is automatic in its character, and I ask you again, are you willing to foist and force on the people of Berks County something that you would not have or for a moment tolerate if it applied to your own county.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: Inasmuch as Westmoreland county is one of the counties which would be affected by this bill, it would seem but fitting that there should be a brief expression of the views of the four Representatives of that county who are present here regarding it. Westmoreland County is opposed to this proposed legislation. We all may be appreciative of the great desirability of legislation which would bring about uniformity of assessments, but Westmoreland County does not think that this bill meets the situation. In our estimation it simply provides a new driver for the same old horse,—five or more drivers, in fact, but all going along the same road to the same destination practically as at present; in other words, gentlemen of this House, this bill, we believe, would simply provide a lot of additional high-priced office holders without any commensurate benefit, and we earnestly and respectfully ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: It is true when the Representative from Berks County came to me to amend my bill so that Berks County would not sometime come within the provisions of its contents, that I told him I could not do that because the population of Schuylkill County, under the last census is two hundred and seven thousand. This bill provides that it shall affect and be in force in counties between two hundred and two hundred and fifty thousand, and how I could leave Berks County out without leaving my own county out was beyond my comprehension. The population of Berks County at the last census—and I believe Mr. Sarig will bear me out in this—was one hundred eighty-three thousand and some hundred. The objection Mr. Sarig has to the bill is that in 1920 his county may automatically go under the provisions of this act; for, in other words, not being far-sighted enough, he don't want Berks County to have anything good even if they want to wait until 1920.

Now, the gentleman from Lackawanna presented his arguments and he enumerated them. First, that a man from the city may assess property in the county or in the country. Gentlemen, the rights of the citizen is not taken away by this bill, and no man from the city may go into the country and unjustly assess the property of any man in the country. Why? Because his remedies now at law will prevail and if an unjust assessment is made, that man who receives an unjust assessment may appeal into the courts of his county for remedy, and if they fail to give him that remedy he may go into the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth. I desire to ask the gentleman from Luzerne whether now, under existing law, they have any more remedy than that? Is it not true that under your law now, that your county commissioners who are only a few men, sit as a Board of Revision? Have they not a title, under the Acts of Assembly relative to the assessment of property, as a Board of Revision? In the hands of three men existing now, the Board of Revision! This act still holds at two men, two of the majority party and one of the minority party, so that the second reason fails. Why? Because under your law now and the procedure of your courts, when you make an appeal from the assessment you must go in on the ground that you have been assessed too high; namely, that you have been assessed beyond the market value or that price which your property would bring at public sale after fair notice. You cannot go into court now, under the decisions, and appeal from an assessment given by the Board of Revision on the ground that the other fellow is too low. You must stand on your own ground and not make out your case by showing the weakness of the other case. There is the answer to number two or the reason in number one. You still have the same procedure, and if he assesses my property over the valuation, I do then under this act as I do now; I go to the county commissioners sitting as a Board of Revision and ask relief. That is what you do now. That is exactly the way the law stands now. If they fail to give me the relief, I go into the Court of Common Pleas and ask that court to give me relief, and that is what you do now. If that court fails to give me the remedy that I ask, I go into the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and ask for relief, and that is what I do now. There is the answer to number one. Number two I have embodied in my answer to the reason given by the gentleman from Lackawanna in number one—I have embodied that in number two; namely, that of too many assessors for each district. Too many assessors for each district! Why, gentlemen, you know as well as I do that they still have assessors in each township or each district. Have you not an assessor in every ward or district? Is not that so? As a matter of fact, if that is the proposition, I meet him on that. This bill provides that the Board of Revision shall sit and appoint assessors, and not pay out for every district where one assessor could go over two districts in little or no time. What is the necessity of paying two men when one man could do the work? If this bill is administered properly it will relieve you from the Board of Assessors and reduce them. That is the answer to the reason given as being his reason number two.

Now, number three: Too much power in the hands of a few men. That I have embodied in my answer to reason number one. Your Board of Revision now is comprised of three men. Too much power! Why, that has been as old as the Commonwealth. The commissioners are the Board of Revision. That is their title under the law, as well as county commissioners. Is there too much power there now? This bill does not increase or lessen that. It keeps it still, but makes a Board of Revision specially for districts.

Now the fourth objection is that the rich man will have the advantage over the poor man. Why, that is the reason I presented this bill. I intended the opposite, and if you believe the contrary to be true, then I hope and pray that this bill may fail. Who has the most power with the controlling of your elections in your several districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? You know only too well who holds that power, and that is a poor argument to suggest now. The gentleman says this is the same old bill. Yes, it is an old bill, if you will have it that way, because every reform that has ever been fought out in the legislative halls required agitation in bringing it up, in bringing it up, in bringing it up until it became an old bill: and if it should fail this session it will be back next session, an older bill, and this fight will go on until the reform is given. And it does rip out every assessor in the counties affected and appointments made by the Board of Revision, and why? I will tell you why. Gentlemen, I am for an equitable assessment on property in my own county. I am for an equitable assessment, and when the Board of Assessors, no matter who chooses it, does not give that equitable assessment, then I am against that system. When you figure that in our county there is a total assessment of fifty-seven millions of dollars on the land, and when you figure that in one borough the assessor in that borough fixes that total valuation or assessment at ten per cent. of its market value, and in another borough at fifty-eight per cent., where is the equity between the assessment in the fifty-eight per cent. borough and the assessment in the ten per cent. borough. Isn't that an answer? No unjust man should receive other than an equitable assessment, and no just man asks for more. In one borough they assess the total valuation at twenty-two per cent., in another thirty-seven, and in a little township out in the western end of our county the total there at sixty-seven. Why, it is not equitable, and it is not equitable under your old rules or laws as they exist now. You say the assessors are elected by the people and are answerable to the people. You now have a Board of Revision. You have no control over the township, borough and city assessors, and you know when they make their assessments you cannot control them. You choose him, and what? In a certain township he will make a ten per cent. assessment of the valuation, and he will go on year after year and be elected; and the minute the man tries to meet the law—the law as it is now written says that you shall assess the property at that price which it would bring at a fair public sale after notice—why of course, then you think it is time to rip him out. The electors in that district do not want him, but they will not rip him out if the assessment is low. The fellow who tries to live up to the law, when he makes the assessment at the fair market value, what becomes of him? Why, he is licked for assessor because he has given his borough and township and every other borough a proper assessment, although he meant to be fair and maintain an average and come closer to the administration of the law. Now it is a hard thing to get a remedy, but this is a good bill, and it provides that these men shall be appointed sub-assessors, who shall be answerable to that Board of Revision which shall have the power to appoint competent engineers for the purpose of ascertaining the value of land within the district, and these assessors shall make an equitable assessment,—put the same percentage on one man as you do on the other. But the main thing is to put the assessments at what they ought to be under the law, what price they would bring at a public sale after a fair notice, and that is what we are not getting, and that is what you know, gentlemen of this House, you are not getting, if you know the condition of assessments in your own counties. That is why it is an old bill, because it is a departure from an old track, but it is a good bill, equitably and morally, and if I should suffer back in my own county—as I do not believe I will—but if I should suffer politically for doing right, I would answer in the words of the old Greek: "It is a kingly thing, O Cyrus, to do well, but to be evil spoken of."

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I hesitate to express myself at all upon this measure after listening to the honorable gentleman from Schuylkill County, and I want to say in the very beginning, if we are simply voting upon measures that affect us directly, perhaps it would be well for me to remain silent. But I take it, sir, that there is more involved in this measure than that which affects only one or two counties in the State of Pennsylvania. I am against this kind of legislation on general principles. I take it first, sir, that a system of this kind would build up one of the greatest political machines that has ever been conceived of. You are taking something out of the hands of the people that the people would very seriously object to; and in this day, gentlemen, in the preaching of the doctrine of democracy it seems to me that we would be going astray to take something so vital to the people out of their hands; and for that reason I am going to vote against the bill, and I sincerely hope that while this may be an ancient bill today, it will be far more ancient before this body will vote favorably upon it.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, while I am not particularly interested in this legislation, as it does not affect our county, still as the gentleman from Chester has just said, it is a piece of general legislation, and you heard what he said about being opposed to the legislation on general principles. I have listened to some of the criticism by men apparently not at all informed as to how the board for the assessment and revision of taxes works. Their criticism is very unjust, and I feel their fears entirely ungrounded. We have that system in Allegheny County, and there is nobody there, no property owners, who would ever go back to the old system. In my district, in the borough where I live, we have one assessor. He looks after the large township of Moon, the borough of Coraopolis, and Neville township. The work is done entirely satisfactorily and inexpensively, and there is absolutely less favoritism under the present system than under the old. A man's rights are entirely safeguarded under the provisions of this system. There is a date set for the hearing of appeals from the district affected. A man is entitled to a fair hearing there, and he has his right to appeal. I simply want to say for the benefit of the members from counties probably affected by this bill, that Allegheny County has found the system eminently satisfactory, and under no condition would consider a return to the old system.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the members of this House do not appreciate the piece of legislation that is now up for consideration. I am sorry to hear the learned gentleman from the adjoining county of Luzerne and the gentleman from Lackawanna (Mr. David F. Davis) take issue on this bill. Some years ago a bill was passed through this Legislature affecting the county of Luzerne, and I am only going to speak of what happened in the little town that I came from. I come from a mining town with a population today not exceeding nine thousand. The assessed valuation of that borough under the old system of assessment was under three million dollars, and under the new form it increased the valuation of that borough to over six million dollars—increased the valuation in one ward alone to an amount greater than the combined valuation of the whole borough before that.

Some members appear to think that this bill will do away with the assessors. I speak because I have worked as a sub-assessor under this new system, and my instruction, gentlemen, was this, that the way I should arrive at a fair valuation of the property would be to place it, if you were the owner, on the block, and that you would consider a fair price, and it has worked out very satisfactory, and I think it has made an increased valuation in the county of Luzerne in the neighborhood of sixty million dollars. This is worthy of your consideration.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I believe this legislation ought to be considered as though it were affecting every county in the State as a piece of general legislation. I think it is a dangerous piece of legislation from this standpoint, that it takes out of the hands of the people and puts into the hands of a few men the power of a taxing system for school, township, road and all taxing purposes except mercantile license. That is what the bill provides for. Now, more than that, these men would be responsible to a board of three men. This appointive system could not help but be destructive, for men in power—all of us are influenced somewhat by our surroundings, and men placed with so much prestige in their hands would be pressed very hard. I think you do not want to place the power of assessing county, school and city taxes in the hands of three men and their appointees. This system might become dangerous and vicious.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to prolong this discussion, but I want to clarify your minds on just one point. The gentleman from Schuylkill says he could not amend his bill so as to leave out Berks County and still make it safe for Schuylkill County. Now, the population of Berks County according to the last census was 133,000 while the population of Schuylkill County was 270,000. What I do say is this: I asked the gentleman to raise the minimum to 220,000. This would have left out Berks County after 1920 and would still have made it safe for Schuylkill County. It would have meant that Schuylkill County would have had to wait perhaps two years before the bill went into operation. But I feel that I have gone eighty per cent. of the way in trying to reach a compromise, and the only recourse left open to me is to oppose the bill in its entirety.

The power of final resort under this bill will be the courts of course, the same as under the present system. But why is this bill necessary? If this is such a good and meritorious piece of legislation, then why isn't it State-wide? Why, if the gentleman from Schuylkill believes that he is doing such a good thing and bringing about such a great reform, why does he wish to deprive the greater part of the State of the benefit of this reform? Why does this bill simply take in a few counties? Why is it not made State-wide? The reason is that the gentleman from Schuylkill knows that this bill never would have a ghost of a show if it was made State-wide. He knows that the great majority of the counties would never stand for nor accept it; and I appeal to you once more, as a matter of fair play, not to foist and force upon us something which you would not stand for in your own county.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to answer the gentleman from Cambria. I think he should be answered. This bill does not change the whole system of levying taxes in your county. If the gentleman from Cambria thinks it does, then he is under a misapprehension. It simply goes to the assessment or the valuation. The tax levy is still made by the commissioners of the county, as they do now, for county purposes. If the gentleman from Cambria is of any other opinion, he is laboring under a misapprehension. I will answer the gentleman from Berks by saying this: it is true, his argument, that what is good for one is good for all, but it is the same with every reform. Every assessor in the county will be against it. Do you mean to tell me he does that after a full and fair consideration of whether it is for the public good or not? I will agree that everybody in this House is at least somewhat of a politician, and does not want to offend any more of his constituents than he has to, but tell me this: who in the counties would oppose it but the assessors, and would the assessors, when opposing it, consider it solely on the ground of whether it is for the public good or not? No, he would appeal to you to vote against it because it affects him, with no regard at all as to whether the bill was for the public good.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the change in the taxing system, I would like to refer to lines nine, ten and eleven of the bill, where it provides for the state, county, school, poor, road, borough and township purposes or otherwise, also occupations and military enrollment, except license and mercantile taxes, shall be made by a board. You won't change the assessors very much, it is true, because a man who is appointed could assess as justly as the man who is elected, but in the one case the people choose the man whom they want to do this business, and in the other case you have a man who is appointed. That appointee might be from some other district and he might not understand the district to which he is appointed. I think he would be a menace to the community about which he knew nothing of the conditions. Why the idea principally in regard to it is, because it is a political bill it has made a great deal of progress, because in some counties they will get two or three hundred appointees. I feel that this would be a change of the assessors and it would do violence to that district.

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER).

The SPEAKER. This is the hour fixed by special order for the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 525 (Senate Bill No. 172).

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 525 (Senate Bill No. 172), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and sixty-four), entitled "An Act to provide revenue and regulate the sale of malt brewed vinous and spirituous liquors or any admixture thereof by requiring and authorizing licenses to be taken out by brewers distillers wholesalers bottlers rectifiers compounders storekeepers and agents having a store office or place of business within this Commonwealth prescribing the amount of license fees to be paid in such cases and by imposing an additional license fee on retail dealers in intoxicating liquors"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, four years ago I made something of an effort to bring about an amendment to the Brooks High License Law. Those opposing my efforts were successful. We were told at that time that the Brooks High License Law was the best license law enjoyed by any of the states. I did not disagree with them then on the point had it been amended in line with my suggestion. The bills under consideration at this time I assume are prompted from a spirit of fairness toward the men who are licensed by the court to sell liquors. However, they are not retroactive in that they do not provide for the licensees who have already paid for their year's license. It is true that these bills intend to take care of the licensees who are granted a license from this time on, but for those who have taken out their license no provisions are made and to that end I believe that the bills are unfair and will only lead to chaos and embarrassment in attempting to enforce them. Men are licensed for a full year under the laws of our state and if any licensee from any subsequent legislation may be refused to continue that license in the spirit of fairness he should have his money refunded, but at this time to say to those who have taken out their license that they cannot have any of their money refunded and only to make provision for those who took out their license after the enactment of these bills into law, is unjust, unfair and unreasonable.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House: In what I wish to say I don't want to try to influence anyone's vote on this particular measure. I believe, however, that following this legislation there will be a bill introduced by this legislature giving back to the counties or to the men who have already paid in their license the amount they have paid in according to the mandatory terms provided by this act. I want to say that I have voted in this House for local option and I have voted for dry measures ever since I am a member of this legislature. I think that each man in this House gives me that right and that privilege and I am sure that I find no fault with the men who voted opposite from myself, because I believe that he voted on his conviction. We have carried out successfully and weighed this proposition from both sides and each rose and voted "aye" and "nay" on the different questions pertaining to wet and dry legislation in Pennsylvania. I believe that it is due to us to have discussion in a spirit of fairness. Those who wish to vote on one side or the other did so. It is not the man that I have fought, it is the business. I have the greatest respect, as much respect for the man in that business, who is an honorable man as I have for any other man in any other business. We were opposed to the business and in our spirit of fairness we have extended to every human individual in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in so far as we ought to be willing everything to help those at this time. This is a spirit of charity that we wish to maintain all the way through. You who are in the business, looking at it from a moral and religious standpoint, from a financial standpoint and from every other standpoint, we ought to be willing to say to these men, now, you have paid for your license and this is due you and for that reason we have also said to you that the federal government is going further than that and on the first of July we agree to take these men and pay back what has been paid on this license, and further on we think it is in the spirit of fairness to extend this courtesy and not prosecute them because we do not agree with them.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because I believe it to be unfair, unfair particularly at this time. This bill provides for a radical departure from your Public Service Company Law, and we are passing into a troubled period, the aftermath of the war, and it is a time when we should disturb business, whether it be industrial business or public utilities, as little as possible, in order that the prosperity of this State might be maintained.

Under the present law, the Public Service Company Law that has been in effect since 1913—and this law in this respect is followed by most of the States of this Union which have adopted public service company laws—when a public service company desires to increase its rates, it files a tariff showing the increase, which becomes effective thirty days from the filing thereof; and during that time, or at any time thereafter, any one, whether they ride on the trolleys or use the gas, can complain against these rates, and that complaint then comes before the final tribunal, the Public Service Commission, for determination as to whether they are reasonable or not; and the reasonableness is determined upon the scientific basis of valuing the company's stock without consideration of the stocks and bonds or any of its agreements, by finding out how much the property of that company is actually worth reproduced, allowing for depreciation, and not taking into consideration abnormal prices caused by war conditions or any extraordinary condition. Then they allow them either six or seven, and sometimes as high as seven and one-half per cent. of that valuation as profit, and any profit that yields a return in excess of that is unreasonable. In the meantime, while this rate is in effect the parties complaining can get rebate checks, if on a trolley car, showing the excess fare, and if a gas company or an electric company, their bills show the excess rate. When a rate is determined to be unreasonable, they are refunded their money. It sometimes happens in the case of trolley companies that the rebate checks are lost by the people who ride on the cars, but nevertheless that principle still prevails in the law in this State and other States.

Now the reason for it is to allow these companies to meet the changing conditions that business confronts them with. The present bill that is before you now seeks to amend the law by permitting the Public Service Commission to suspend the rates which are charged by the public utilities company until they have finally determined whether the rates are reasonable or not. Now, there are hundreds and thousands of public utilities in this State owning large properties which require time and technical experience to evaluate, and it would be manifestly impossible for this commission, unless we appropriated to it millions of dollars, to go into the valuation of all these companies throughout the State in order to come quickly to the point where they could say whether the rates are reasonable or unreasonable. It naturally takes some time. Now the theory in regard to public service companies in our law, and it is a correct theory, is that the rates should initiate with them, that they should be the first to say what they should get for their product, either gas or electricity, or for their service, if a trolley company; and the people, if they consider the rate too high, can complain, and if that rate is unreasonable, they must cease to charge it.

It has always been and is the theory in this country that these companies are semi-private as well as semi-public, and are at least in a position to know what they should charge for their products. Under this law the rate would be suspended, that is, would go back to the original basis, until finally the commission, in the course of six months or a year probably, determines how much the fare should be or the price of electricity should be, and that would mean that the companies would be forced into bankruptcy or into the hands of a receiver in periods when prices of material and labor fluctuate to any great extent. For instance, during this war, from which we are just emerging, there has been a period of high prices and high wages, a period which is not yet past, and will not for some time, and we will never go back to the low prices that prevailed before the war. During the period of the war, matters within the experience of every man would teach that the rates these companies charged had to be raised quickly. Steel rails, for instance, just before the war, selling for forty dollars a ton rose to eighty-five dollars a ton during the war; copper wire rose two or three times its price; wages rose one hundred per cent. and in some cases one hundred and fifty per cent. on our public utility lines. In the eastern part of Pennsylvania, the small lines actually increased the trainmen's wages from twenty-three cents and twenty-seven cents an hour, as before the war, to forty-five cents and sixty cents, and they have never gone back. On a thirty-mile electric railway line an increase of ten cents an hour to the trainmen would mean an expenditure of about one hundred and twenty thousand dollars a year. Where are they going to get the money? Frequently in the last year the labor unions struck for more wages, although they had contracts extending into the future, and demanded their increase of twenty cents an hour, or whatever it was, and demanded that it be retroactive, that is, if they struck to-day the wage increase should extend two months into the past, and go into the future on a rising scale. These public utilities companies had to get their money quickly to pay these back wages and to meet their payroll on the next Saturday night. Many of the small-line companies of the State have been facing a deficit on account of the high price of materials and supplies. Many of them sought to raise their rates or fare, and the rates have been increased because of the wage increase. Under the present law they are entitled to raise their fares to meet this increased cost, and if they have raised them too much the complaint will show that through the commission's technical department, and they will be obliged to refund the money; but under the amendment they cannot raise their fare to take over that increased cost.

Through the eastern tier of counties many of these companies would be facing bankruptcy because they could not get the money to meet the wages of their working men, who are increasing their wages by leaps and bounds, beyond the revenue that a cent on a fare would yield in the course of a year. We are going into a period when prices and conditions are going to change and we must get men to have some confidence in business to invest their money in our public enterprises. Nobody has been investing money in public utilities in this State for some years, and outside of the large cities where lines have been extended to a point on new streets, not a mile of electric railway has been built in Pennsylvania. The lines cannot get money if they want to build a big power-house, and they could not get any money or borrow any money only during the period of the war when the United States Government came to their assistance in order that their activities might be continued.

We must put into these companies the breath of solvency, we must treat them fairly; we must not look at them through the eyes of the capitalist, nor through the eyes of the socialist or bolshevist, but through the eyes of Americanism, with a desire in our hearts to play fair with them and give them a chance to live, and not meddle too much in the affairs of these companies. The United States Government had that experience with the railroads. They fought for years for a fifteen per cent. increase, and they were refused, and never got it until the United States Government took over the control of the roads. They then got a thirty per cent. increase, and now today the roads are facing a deficit on account of the increase of half a billion of dollars. We must treat these roads fairly, and the way we can do it is to treat these utilities the same as all other business in the State, and vote down this bill.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me this is a very fair and equitable bill. We have had the Public Service Commission in our State since 1913. If there was any necessity for these corporations raising the rates, if they should make a sufficient charge, I would be the last man in Pennsylvania to deny them that right. Our friend just spoke about the necessity of corporations raising wages. We all understand that a man must make a certain amount to pay the wages of his employes, but this should be a proper compensation. The judgment of this House has been unfair to the people of this State in permitting the corporations to come here and file their rates over night and put excessive rates on the books of this State. We have no redress back home. We have in the House here four hundred men, representing the entire State of Pennsylvani,a raising their protest against this service. They are here asking us to give them this bill. I come from a part of Pennsylvania which has been suffering for seven years. We have spent thirty thousand dollars on the Public Service Commission, and where are we today? We are in the same place we were seven years ago. In 1913, on December 31st, our water company came down here and filed with the Public Service Commission a rate which made forty-cent gas. Of course, we had redress. We have been trying for seven years and spent thirty thousand dollars in getting redress. I want to say that it is not fair to make the small boroughs and municipalities come here and get down on their knees to get redress. This bill, if it passes today, will put the burden on the corporations. They will be required to come here and file their rates and ask the Public Service Commission if they are right, and get their consent or permission to charge them.

We have just gone through a great war where we have fought for democracy. Why not give us a little democracy in Pennsylvania as well as in Germany? Why should corporations be permitted to come here and hamstring us this way? We want to be fair, we want to be just, we want to be right, but why not let the corporations stand some of the burden? We have been spending all this money all these years, and now our case is in the United States Court. This bill is fair and equitable, and I hope the House will pass it.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I arise to ask permission to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Milner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Milner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILNER. Yes, sir.

Mr. SIMPSON. May I ask if you feel that the Public Service Commission is just as competent of passing on a question of fact as the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, my answer to that is that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania is just as competent as the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. I wish to inform you that the Supreme Court has just decided that the Public Service Commission is the final arbiter of all the facts and the facts cannot be reviewed in the Supreme Court.

Mr. SIMPSON. May I ask you now if you are in favor of placing in that body, the Public Service Commission, the absolute authority to pass upon a question of fact, in the first instance and to put that into execution, before taking it to the Supreme Court.

Mr. MILNER. I would like to know just what the gentleman means; I don't understand his question.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I will explain. Prior to the passage known as the Public Service Commission Act all that was necessary for the public to do was to appear in the Common Pleas Court with two affidavits and there get an injunction. After the passage of that act the Common Pleas Court decided that they had no power to issue an injunction and that power rested in the Public Service Commission. Would you now be in favor of putting that power in the Public Service Commission after you have destroyed it in the Common Pleas Court.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, my answer is that the power now is vested in the Public Service Commission as decided by the case of Sinclair vs. The Pottsville and Sinclair Railroad Company, decided three months ago by our Supreme Court.

Mr. SIMPSON. Thank you. I stand in a very peculiar position with reference to this bill. I want to say to the members of the House that I was asked by the sponsor of this bill to father it when it was before the Judiciary General Committee and there was not one solitary person appeared there in opposition to this bill. The matter was discussed pro and con by every member that was present at that meeting and there were present and sitting about that table sixteen members of the General Judiciary Committee. All of them were members of the different bars of the State of Pennsylvania and after discussing that question thoroughly, after weighing it from every angle, that committee decided to report this bill to the floor of this House so that the matter could be thoroughly discussed and taken up there if the members of this House felt it necessary to do so to decide that it was absolutely just, that it was fair, that it was equitable, that it was what the people of Pennsylvania needed in order that they might be placed in their proper positions. Therefore, I say to the members of this House that it is your duty to pass it; it is your duty to your constituents to pass it.

After the bill came out on the floor of the House, every man that is here in Harrisburg paid by some soulless corporation for the sole and express purpose of depriving the people of Pennsylvania out of their rights, banded themselves together in order to strangle this bill. When their arguments were met and put aside, when their arguments were combatted and they were defeated, one of those gentlemen said to me, "Well, I may not be able to talk you out of this, but I will tell you that you are going to have a hell of a fight on the floor of the House." Pardon the expression, but I am quoting that gentleman's exact words. That man lobbied for the sole and express purpose of serving the corporations of the State of Pennsylvania; that is his business and that is what he said to the man who is the sponsor of this bill. Is it not a grand thing to think that men are elected to this Legislature and come down here for the sole and express purpose of looking after the interests of the people—and when I say the people I mean the people not alone who have vested capital but the people who are paying the bills—is it not a grand thing to have these paid hirelings come up to you and tell you what he is going to do on the floor of this House? Is not that a grand position to be put in? I tell you what this bill does and I want to be fair about it. I am just as much interested in the capital that is invested in the great State of Pennsylvania as Mr. Milner is but I am a great deal more interested in the people who supply that capital. My friends, the people that supply that capital are the people that supply those quasi public corporations; they are the people that supply the capital that keep the machinery running in these different corporations.

What do we ask in this bill? Do we ask anything that is unjust? Do we ask anything that is unreasonable? Do we ask anything that is inequitable? I say, honestly, no. We are simply asking in this bill to be placed in the very same position that we were placed in before the Public Service Commission was created, a position where, when these different corporations wanted to raise their rates but thought it would be necessary for them not to raise their rates indiscriminately but to go before the Public Service Commission and decide that question and then the Public Service Commission decided that question. They talk about the breaking up of public corporations. Let me tell you what the Supreme Court says about things of this kind. In one of the most recent cases that was tried in the Public Service Commission is the Pittsburgh Railways Company in the City of Pittsburgh. That case was filed before the Public Service Commission in May, and one year and nine months thereafter it was finally handed down by the Supreme Court and during all that time the public in the City of Pittsburgh were reaching down in their pockets and paying the bills in order that the Pittsburgh Railways Company might continue litigation and the only thing they did for you was to issue a return slip, that some day you might be able if you had courage enough and patience and kept those slips to go to the treasurer's office of the company and get your money back providing they kept out of the hands of a receiver, but the Pittsburgh Railways Company went into the hands of a receiver after that decision was handed down and there was not a dollar, not a nickel, set aside or in the treasury to pay one dollar back that the Public Service Commission said they were entitled to collect, and that the Superior Court said they were entitled to collect, and then finally the Superior Court said that they were entitled to collect.

Let me tell you what the Supreme Court said on that subject and see whether I am wrong. Talk about fair play. In a decision in 259, Supreme Court, page 558, he will find such a statement that they did not know, and they did not send out any notices and they did not notify the superintendents of the barns and there were no posters of that notice in order that the public might know what was going on. They said that they thought that was the proper thing and that is what the law meant when they created the Public Service Commission. Are we sitting here for the purpose of creating commissions whose object is the looting of the Treasury of the State of Pennsylvania? Are we here for the purpose of creating sinecures in order that these corporations might loot our Treasury? If we are, I want to go home. If we are here for that purpose to create commissions and vest in them the right to decide a question of fact that they ought to decide, then I am here for the sole and express purpose of passing legislation such as this legislation, that is fair, equitable, honest, conscientious, and dealing with the public as they should be dealt with—dealing with them in an honest, conscientious way, because they are compelled to supply the money to carry on the industry of that particular corporation and that does not apply alone to the Pittsburgh Railways Company. I have a more recent decision than that, supplied in the State Reports of Pennsylvania, 260, almost the last report that is out and that is the case of Ben Avon vs. The Ohio Valley Water Company. That decision was just exactly what the Public Service said it ought to be in the first instance. The Ohio Valley Water Company knew that they had a decision and they started in with that. They had at their command the best legal talent that there is in the State of Pennsylvania, paid from the money that you and I and every man here contributes to the coffers of that corporation, and they knew exactly what to do and they started in to do it. They first took an appeal to the Superior Court and after arguing that question in the Superior Court the Superior Court pretended to reverse a part of the Public Service Commission's acts and it was taken from there to the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania and there decided the question of fact does not involve a question of law and that it should be passed by the Public Service Commission. The Supreme Court said not once but a thousand times that a question of fact is not reviewable by this court and is never in a reversible error.

So I say to you that in creating the Public Service Commission that vests them with power to discharge their duties, the power should be vested in them at the creation of that particular commission. I have no desire, my friends, to impose any hardship on any corporation, and, strange as it might seem, I have satisfied myself that I never will be able to impose a hardship on these quasi public corporations. I simply want to put them in a position where they will deal honestly with the people who are paying their bills. I think that is the most important thing that there is to be done in this Legislature. Put the corporations or any other institutions in a position where they have got to deal fairly with the common people. I have found out in my experience that nine times out of ten the common people are absolutely right.

That has been my experience. I take it, too, that it is our duty to put them in possession of what they should have, put them in possession of their rights and keep these people that we have granted innumerable rights, granted rights that no individual could possibly get, because every one of them has the right to acquire and take every foot of your property for their special benefit. Why? Because they are serving the public and the public, according to the Supreme Court, are absolutely interested in every move they make. They have an interest that has got to be considered. If they have an interest that has got to be considered then this is the kind of legislation that ought to be considered seriously by this House.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have received a request just now from the sponsor of this bill that it be placed upon the postponed calendar for the present.

BILL POSTPONED.

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar, The House resumed the consideration on final passage House Bill No. 117, entitled:

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker House Bill No. 117, to my mind, is just as vicious tonight as it was on last Tuesday when at the request of the sponsor it was put on he postponed calendar. It is too bad it was not sent back to the Committee and kept there. We are passing into troubled times, and we are passing into times when prices and values are going to fluctuate, and it is no time to disturb business relations in any way along the lines of our dealings with business institutions in the State.

Now, I expressed myself upon this bill last Tuesday, but briefly, for the benefit of those men who were not here at that time—the House was slim—I want to say that this bill is a radical departure in public service law as expressed in the laws of the various states of this Union. The theory of the public service law is that public utilities should initiate their rates, and if unreasonable, to allow the Public Service Commission to scientifically determine that fact, and send them back, if necessary, to the proper rate, allowing them only a reasonable profit upon the fair value of their property.

Under the present law of this State, and most of the states of the Union that have adopted such a public law, when a rate has gone into effect and complaint is filed, then if the Public Service Commission determines that the rate is unreasonable, the company must go back to the old rate. In the meantime, rebate checks have been given to the customers or passengers, entitling them to the amount paid in excess of the old rate, if that rate is found to be an unreasonable rate. The companies will not charge more than the traffic will bear, and they know what it will cost them for materials and for their workingmen's wages. There are times when the wage scale rises very rapidly. There are times in the history of public utilities, especially within the past two years, when the wage scale has risen one hundred per cent. and even one hundred fifty per cent. in the course of a few months. It takes money to meet this scale and they must have money to pay their men in cash on the spot. The men even want their wages dated back a few months. A rate cannot be put into effect for at least thirty days without special permission, which is very unusual to grant. If the wages of the men causes an expenditure of one hundred thousand dollars in a year, the money has to come from somewhere or the company goes into the hands of a receiver and it is a well known fact that very little money has been invested in this state in the past ten years. There has not been a dollar invested in public utilities the last five or six years for the purpose under consideration because of the fear of the outside investor that probably it will be meddled with. Now there may be a time when affairs have settled down, when prices have come back to their normal standard and we know what price products shall be, that we may approach such a subject as this in a scientific manner; but in this present time when the stock and bonds of these utilities must be saved from reduction in value in order that there may be some stability to our institutions, when in this period of reconstruction we may encourage the people to put money in our public utilities, we should stand by them and see that they get fair play. This bill is not giving them fair play because it says to them, "You cannot raise your rates to meet increased expenses because the Public Service Commission can suspend them." And, therefore, this bill is not fair to anyone and does not give a square deal to these institutions, because they are part of the whole fabric. I believe this bill should be voted down.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the arguments of my friend from Philadelphia. I believe he has stated very well his position on this bill, and I have no doubt, gentlemen of the House, that if such statements, supported by the necessary proof, were presented to the Public Service Commission, we would not have any necessity for action by that Commimssion. The matters that he alluded to in this bill do not constitute a radical departure from the present law governing public utilities. It is simply an amendment to the act providing that the Public Service Commission may on its own motion, when it deems proper, suspend the rates until after final hearing. Is there anything unreasonable or unjust to the Public Service Commission or to any litigant in that amendment? I think you will agree with me, gentlemen, that there is nothing unjust or unreasonable. We have now a peculiar situation in Pennsylvania arising out of what we believe was a defect or shortcoming in the present law. It is a fact now that under the law in Pennsylvania a public service company can file its proposed tariffs, no matter whether they are reasonable or just or whether they are exhorbitant or extravagant. Those tariffs must go into effect, and the Public Service Commission is powerless to prevent them from going into effect until after final hearing. It may be one year or it may be three years. The public service companies can demand of the people anything and get it, at least until the case is finally determined. It may be many months or it may be years. Is that fair? They can propose their rates in violation of contracts or agreements they may have with the municipalities. They can propose their rates in violation of all contracts, and under the present law they must go into effect, and continue into effect until after final hearing.

Now, gentlemen, in most of the lawsuits the litigant has to wait until after the case is determined before he can get the fruits of his contest. The public utilities can demand anything of the people and get it for the time being. Now gentlemen, do you distrust our Public Service Commission? If you do, let us repeal the bill and get rid of it. But if you have faith and confidence in the Public Service Commission, if you have sufficient confidence in it to allow it to determine this matter, do you think for one moment that the Public Service Commission is going to protect rates under conditions such as those stated by the gentlemen from Philadelphia? But if some company, respectable or otherwise, proposes exhorbitant or extravagant rates, do you think the people ought to have to wait until after final hearing? Let us put into the hands of the Public Service Commission this added right to suspend the rates until after final hearing if they deem it just and proper. We must remember, gentlemen, that under the present law, it is the province of the Public Service Commission to determine what are just and reasonable rates for the public service companies, and it is not for the complainant. If we leave it to the Public Service Commission, as we now do, for final determination in this matter, why not give it authority to allow the rates to go into effect and then reduce them when, in their opinion, they are unjust and should not be demanded?

Gentlemen of the House, the one thing that this bill does is to provide for that. If you think the Public Service Commission is trustworthy, then pass this amendment. If you think it is not trustworthy the only thing to do is to repeal the whole thing. No gentleman in the House believes for a moment that the Public Service Commission is unfavorable to corporations. I do not, and I do not believe that you do. Don't you think, from your experience and your knowledge of the situation that the Public Service Commission has always given public service companies a full, open hearing, and granted them the things that they should have?

Now, we talk about rebate slips. You gentlemen who have traveled on the street cars in Pittsburgh or in Philadelphia, or in any of the other large cities of this Commonwealth, do you think for one moment that it is practicable for them to give a cash receipt or rebate slip to every man who pays a nickel or six cents fare? You know, gentlemen, that it is impracticable and ridiculous. The operators of street cars in large cities with three times the force they have now could not grant these rebate slips to all of their customers or their patrons. The attorneys for the public service companies in the western part of this State have very frankly stated in open court that this thing is impracticable and cannot be done, and all of you know it. All of us who travel in these street cars know that it is impracticable for them to give cash receipts to their patrons. Gentlemen, if it is impracticable, then we must have this amendment. It is the only redress, the only safety that the peopple have. Let us trust our Public Service Commission; let us give them this authority to stand between the people and the public service companies.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Wallace.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Wallace, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Wallace if it is not the underlying theory of our public service law that the utility companies shall initiate their rates?

Mr. WALLACE. It is that they shall initiate them.

Mr. MILNER. If the Commission suspend the rate, does it not break down the fundamental and underlying principle of the law?

Mr. WALLACE. I don't think so. I think the fundamental and underlying principle is to render justice to both the public service companies and the people.

Mr. MILNER. If the rate is reasonable, should it be suspended?

Mr. WALLACE. If the rate is reasonable and necessary, it should not be suspended and unquestionably would never be suspended by the Public Service Commission.

Mr. MILNER. Would not the Public Service make a demand for investigation if the rate is one of unfairness under the law?

Mr. WALLACE. They have their engineers, competent men who have expert knowledge on this subpect and they can make sufficient investigation to determine, in their own minds, whether or not the rates should be suspended or permitted to go into effect.

Mr. MILNER. Is it not necessary to have technical experts to envalue in order to determine the reasonableness of rates?

Mr. WALLACE. It is necessary but the case is finally determined and the rate goes into effect.

Mr. MILNER. In order to do justice do you think it possible to give them quick enough relief?

Mr. WALLACE. The law has full authority to give them everything they ask. This does not take away one iota of their power any authority but gives them discretion to permit them to go into effect immediately or suspending it until some future time. Instead of thirty days it may be sixty, or ninety days, or until some final hearing.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Wallace has admitted that it is the underlying theory of the Public Service Law to allow the utilities to initiate their rates. In order for the Public Service Commission to intelligently determine whether the rate shall be suspended or not, they must first determine whether it is reasonable or if reasonable should it not be suspended because the company is entitled to relief? If, under this amendment, it should be suspended, in order to determine the reasonableness of the rates of a public utility, as it is scientifically done at the present time throughout the United States the Interstate Commerce Commission has to evaluate the property which takes time and money and a large number of experts. The Public Service Commission in this State does not have the facilities and all the utilities which will be appealing for increased schedules would not be covered in the next five years and if we had ten millions it would not be sufficient to carry out the provisions of this amendment when you come to get enough experts to bring relief quickly, because that would take in the different lines of roads or trolley lines, which, if only ten miles out, would have to be changed and the ties would have to be counted and property evaluated down to the minutest detail and the books of the company investigated in order to find out just what they would give as an earning upon the fair value of its property irrespective of inflated values. Therefore, I say to you again, that this bill is unjust and it should fall.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I had no desire to speak on this bill tonight. I had thought that there had been sufficient discussion on this bill on last Tuesday. I had no particular desire to call it up last Tuesday after the recess, but after the bill was called up it became necessary for me, by reason of being interested in it, or Mr. Shunk, to say something in its favor, and at that time I did the very best I possibly could for the bill, feeling, of course, that it was absolutely just and equitable and would place the responsibility where it belonged and where it should have been from the day the Public Service Act went into effect, and after going over the House carefully, the sponsor of this bill decided that it would be unfair to his bill to have it put before the House at that time and asked me to move its postponement until tonight, which I did, and the next morning I met with one of the most vile criticisms that could possibly come from any newspaper that there is published in the city of Pittsburgh. Let us see what the people have to say about this bill? Let us see what the public press has to say about this bill? Let me see whether they are coming in here condemning the bill in all its features and telling how unjust and unreasonable and inequitable we are to these poor corporations. These poor quasi public corporations who are serving the public for the sole and express purpose of making themselves rich at the public expense. They have not their money in these institutions for the sole and express purpose of serving the public. They are getting everything from the public that it is possible for them to get and under every pretense known to human ingenuity and then without batting an eyelash they go into court and have them set aside with one sweep of the pen and say that the contracts entered into by a municipality with the Public Service Corporation was entered into before the creation of the Public Service Commission and that they have a perfect right to set these contracts aside. Why? Because this public service corporation, these quasi public corporations have a certain interest in the public and the public has a certain interest in them that must be respected, and by reason of that they have an absolute right, according to their ideas, to set these contracts aside. I can show you numerous contracts entered into between boroughs and quasi public service corporations who have been wiped off the books, set aside completely and fares have been raised and are still raising. Let me go back and tell you what the papers say on this subject:

"Assemblyman John H. Simpson, of Allegheny County, with three hundred members of the Association (League of Boroughs) looking on the side lines, deliberately threw the race, sending the measure on to the House postponed calendar instead of across the line to victory.

"The Shunk bill gave the Public Service Commission the power to suspend a rate increase until a final hearing had been had. It was the one measure in which the representatives of the boroughs were most keenly interested. At their convention here today they passed resolutions"—what? Certainly not condemning the bill—"they passed resolutions endorsing the bill. And then—three hundred strong, they gathered in the rear of the House to watch the bill be put across."

Are we to believe what the public press says about the bill or are we to believe some person that was interested in it? I have no desire to say anything concerning myself with reference to what "The Dispatch" said about me, but I did exactly what the sponsor of the bill told me—put it on the postponed calendar so that it would get a fair deal tonight. That is what I did, and I felt that when three hundred people, representing that many boroughs and townships, were here and endorsing by resolutions for the sole and express purpose of having this bill enacted into a law, that it was my duty to place it on the postponed calendar in order that the House might be full when this measure came up for final passage. If three hundred boroughs and townships in the State of Pennsylvania say that this is a good measure, that it is fair and for the best interests of the people, then I say to you that it is your duty, as well as your privilege, to vote for the passage of this bill because there is not one solitary iota in any paper condemning the bill, not one. And let me say in that connection that I want this bill to either pass or fail on its merits. I said that on last Tuesday, and I still maintain that position. I say that the Public Service Commission are just as capable of passing on a question of fact as any Supreme Court that ever sat in the State of Pennsylvania, and that is the only thing that it gives them. And why do I want that given to them? I will show you: Because they go in and indiscriminately raise the rates, then they issue what they term a rebate slip. And let me say that I hold one of them in my hand. Giving the name of the Railways Company, it says: "has received under traffic filed August 7, 1917, one cent in excess of the price of the prior established rate;" and then it is signed by the general superintendent. Does that say anything about paying that back? Not one solitary word. But they say, "we will;" and I want to be fair with them—I suppose they will; and I suppose the Supreme Court could tell them to pay it back, and I believe that in every instance they have. But supposing, for instance, that immediately upon the Supreme Court rendering that decision against them and sustaining the Public Service Commission, as they have done in every instance—not one, in every instance—and that quasi-public service corporation immediately went into the hands of a receiver, where would your slips go or where would you get your money for the slips that you bought, you may say, in order that you might keep? There would not be and never is any provision made, so far as the company treasury is concerned, for the payment of those slips, none whatever, and you would just be placed in the same position as that in which any other creditor is placed, although you should have a preferred claim because that corporation has collected something from you that they were absolutely not entitled to and never should have collected. And that is the only thing that I want in this act. I want to put the quasi-public service corporations in a position that they cannot do as they have done, that they cannot possibly establish a rate without first consulting the Public Service Commission and having them determine a mere question of fact. And now, as it is, the Public Service Commission determines that question of fact. Immediately they certify that question of fact to the Superior Court, and immediately after having an adverse decision rendered by the Superior Court they certify that again to the Supreme Court.

I cited you two cases that ran over one year and nine months, and during that entire time the people were paying the bill, paying something that the Public Service Commission said the corporation was not entitled to collect, paying something that afterwards the Supreme Court sustained the Public Service Commission, and said they were not entitled to collect; and there never was a dollar taken from the treasury of that corporation and set aside for the express purpose of redeeming those slips. I want to put them in the same position they were put in before the passage of the Public Service Commission act; I want to put them into a position where if they are not willing to deal fairly with the public, they will be compelled to until such time as the Supreme Court has passed upon it; and there is not a solitary case went up where this act would in any way interfere that the Supreme Court has not said the public was right and the quasi-public service corporation was wrong: "you have got to disgorge the money that you have taken from these poor people that were compelled to travel backward and forward, to and from their work."

Gentlemen, I ask you now to pass this bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 494, entitled:

An Act relating to milk and cream delivered to milk gathering stations providing for schedules of prices and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to to be interrogated?

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STERLING. Will the sponsor please explain the purposes of the bill?

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to have the farmer receive notice of any change in the price of milk. Ordinarily the price of milk in Pennsylvania changes about four times a year, or possibly five, and, in a great many cases, the farmers shipping the milk to the dealer do not receive notice of the change in price. This bill is fair in every way. It imposes no undue expense on the part of the dealer. Now I would say about forty per cent. of the farmers who ship their milk or sell milk live away from the receiving station. They do not see their dealer and the consequence is the price changes and the farmer does not know it until the month is up.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, a careful examination of this bill will quickly show its objectionable features, and the most serious objection to it is contained in section five, which proposes to fix a penalty of one hundred dollars for each and every violation of the law. The second objection to the bill, and equally as serious, is that it is too broad in its provisions. The bill might be fair if it contained only a provision that the buyer of milk post at such time as a change in the schedule should occur such notice of change and the new price at the gathering stations or on the wagons that gather in the milk; but when this bill requires each purchaser of milk to send out on every occasion that the price of milk changes to every person from whom he buys milk notice by mail of such change, I believe, and seriously submit to you, that such a requirement is entirely to onerous on the purchaser of milk. In Philadelphia I am told that the large distributors of milk in combination buy milk from six thousand or more persons scattered through parts of the State of Pennsylvania, near to the city of Philadelphia. You can at a glance see what effect such a requirement would have on them as well as the purchasers of milk in every city and town in this State. It would entail a large clerical force and postage and expense and stationery, this expense all going to one result, namely, the unnecessary increase in the price of milk to the consumer. If for no other reason, gentlemen of the House, this bill should be defeated. But will you consider for a moment how uncertain the mails are and on how many occasions, from the uncertainty of the mails, violations of the provisions of this bill might innocently occur, and how fines might be imposed upon dealers through no fault of their own? The penalty, I say, in the first place is entirely too great, and in the second place the bill is entirely too broad in its provisions in that it requires the mailing of notices. For this reason, I ask you to vote down this bill.

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that this bill requires additional clerical force. Most of the milk companies in Philadelphia and everywhere else have an office force and notice of change in the price of milk over a period of two or three months does not take very much more work. The office force is not busy all the time, and at the same time the farmers would be very much benefited, and the expense would not be unjust and would not be placed entirely on the dealer. One of the Philadelphia dealers told the manager of the creamery in the section where I live that if the bill passes, "We will take it off the farmer and put it on the dealer and the expense will fall on him." The farmer would not pay the price of postage, for he would not see what he was getting for the next thirty days.

On the other hand, he would buy another cow or two in order to keep his milk supply up. The farmer has a perfect right to know what he is to get for his product the same as he would for any other line of goods.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to assure the price of milk to the farmer, but in my mind it will only work a hardship on the farmer and also on the dealer without any benefit to the consumer. This will not be of any benefit to the farmer but it will be detrimental to him.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and thirty-three) entitled "An Act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the removal of judges of the Supreme Superior common pleas and orphans' courts permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their judicial functions and duties with half pay for their unexpired terms and the filling of vacancies caused by such removal' approved eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and one as amended by an act entitled 'An Act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the removal of judges of the Supreme Superior common pleas and orphans' courts permanently disqualified by reson of physical or mental disability to perform their judicial functions and duties with half pay for their unexpired terms and the filling of vacancies caused by such removal' approved May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and one so as to allow them full pay during the balance of their terms of office and under certain conditions half pay during the remainder of their lives' approved twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven so as to provide that any judge of the Supreme or Superior Court who has served in judicial office for twenty or more years shall be entitled to receive the benefits of said act immediately after his honorable retirement from office by expiration of term resignation or other wise whether said service be continuous or not and extending the provisions of said act to judges of the court of common pleas and orphans' court who have served continuously for twenty years or more and have reached the age of sixty-five years after retirement from office of any of such judges after the expiration of their term resignation or otherwise" extending the provisions thereof to judges retired prior to the passage of the act and not entitled to the benefits thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I am not opposed to this measure in its present form except to one word and since this word, "continuously", makes this a discriminating act, I think the bill should be amended by removing this word as it appears in several places. On line 24, page 507, you will find a provision for two judges named on lines 23 and 24, it says, "twenty years." When you look down to line 27 you will see the word "continuously" there referring to the other two judges and since these gentlemen are all state officials serving in office in the state of Pennsylvania for a term of twenty years, whether they be continuous or not, we should not permit the one word "continuously" to discriminate between the state officials. I have an example in mind and I think that by stating this example to you that you will agree with me that it is discriminating and would not be fair. I know the judge on the bench who served ten years and did not succeed himself, but three years thereafter when you passed a special act for an additional law judge, in 1913, he was appointed and afterwards elected and is serving his second term now, but the word "continuously" will climinate him and make a discrimination between him and his fellow judge on the same bench. If that is not discrimination, I don't know what it is, and hence it is unfair. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to delay this bill, but I would like to ask the sponsor a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Griest, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GRIEST. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. I would like to ask the gentleman if he would agree to have this word "continuously" struck out in the Senate if passed here.

Mr. GRIEST. Mr. Speaker, I will agree to that, or I will ask for the unanimous consent of the House to have that word stricken out at this time.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. I am perfectly satisfied if that amendment will be accepted by the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will suggest that if the sponsor desires to amend this bill here at this time he will have to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading, the bill having already passed third reading. The only other alternative will be to have the bill pass here finally and then that it be amended in the Senate. It is entirely within the discretion of the members of the House as to what action shall be taken.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. To save time, I will be perfectly satisfied if it be understood at this time that it be amended in the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2.

Golder, Stark,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

In voting "No" on House Bill No. 114, file folio 515, I do so because I feel that voting for any measure that does not prohibit the sale of tickets in any place other than the Theatre or place of amusement is compromising with an evil, and that only a bill which confines the sale of tickets to the place of amusement is right in principle, and that only such a bill can properly protect the public.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 19, 1919.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives is directed to draw his requisition on the Department of Printing and Binding to have printed by the State printer ten thousand copies of the Report of the Health Insurance Commission constituted by the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1199), entitled "An Act to establish a Commission to investigate sickness and accident not compensated under the Workmen's Compensation Act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, of employed persons and their families, and to make an appropriation for such Commission."

The said copies when printed shall be deposited with the Division for the Distribution of Documents (for the use of the Governor of the Commonwealth and the members of the General Assembly) and shall be distributed as follows: thirty copies to each Senator, member and principal officer of the General Assembly, and the remainder to be at the disposal of the Governor.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER: The amendment will be read by the clerk.

After the word "documents" strike out the words "for the use of the Governor of the Commonwealth and the members of the General Assembly," and insert in lieu thereof the words "and shall be distributed as follows: thirty copies to each Senator member and principal officer of the General Assembly, and the remainder to be at the disposal of the Governor."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Ordered, That the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ADDRESS BY HON. FLETCHER W. STITES.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I think this House is fortunate today in having present a very distinguished ex-member from Montgomery County, the Honorable Fletcher W. Stites. Those who know him have learned to love him and have recognized his ability, both as an orator and entertainer. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move you that he be given an opportunity to address this House for a few moments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair seconds the sentiments of the gentleman from Lawrence as regards Mr. Stites, and is sure that all the members of the House will be pleased with and charmed by a specimen of the oratory that Mr. Stites was accustomed to give the House during the session of 1917.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

HON. FLETCHER W. STITES. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House my blood would run very sluggishly indeed if it did not pound through my veins as a result of this very unusual tribute from my old friends. I am obliged to feel, however, that it is a tribute to your splendid generosity rather than to any quality of mine which might have merited it; and yet it is only fair to say, as I look into the smiling faces of old friends, that my heart swells even as the hand grenade swelled in the hands of the colored trooper in France. Over in France when General Pershing was training the colored troops, the colored men found it very difficult to acquaint themselves with the new instrument of warfare, the hand grenade. One day a captain was drilling a squad of colored troops, and he said to his men, "I will first give you an empty grenade." He said, "You pull the pin from the grenade, then you count one, two, three, four, and let the grenade go." They became quite proficient in throwing the empty grenade, and finally the captain said to them, "Now I will give you the loaded grenades." He gave a loaded grenade to a great big black fellow. The instant the colored man got it in his hand he hurled the grenade. After he had done it two or three times the captain said to him, "Listen, don't you understand that if you do that the Germans will get the grenade and throw it back and kill your own men?" He gave him another grenade and he did the same thing. Then the captain said, "Listen, when you get the hand grenade you pull the pin and count slowly one, two, three, four, and then you throw the grenade." He gave him another one, but the instant the colored man got the grenade in his hand he hurled it. The captain called to him and said, "If you do that again you will get thirty days in the guard house." The darkey said, "Boss, I want to tell you, I have heard what you said about the grenade and counting one, two, three, four, but I want to tell you that I could just naturally feel that thing aswellin' in my hand," and that, gentlemen, in some measure, is the way my heart feels this morning.

One of the things I learned in the last session of the House—and it seems to me one of the things any man will learn who has some accommodation or disposition,—is the matter of tolerance for the views of others. One of the proudest things I can think of at this moment is that when the session of 1917 closed, I was able to grasp every man of the 207 members of the House by the hand and count him as my friend. And I think that any man who becomes impatient because other men differ with him and his views, is very unfortunate indeed. It seems to me the poet must have been thinking of him when he said:

"Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentred all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung,
Unwept, unhonour'd, and unsung."

Gentlemen, I congratulate you this morning for the ambition which has led you to seek a membership in this House. It is a marvelous thing in these days to be a Pennsylvanian, and even more marvelous to be a member of this great American Nation. Before this war began in 1914 we owed Great Britain, the richest of the foreign nations, and paid her every year in interest for foreign loans, three hundred millions of dollars. Today Great Britain pays us one hundred and fifty million dollars. In 1914 we owed four billions of dollars abroad. Today the foreign nations owe us ten billions and will pay annually five hundred million in interest, and today, right today, this great nation, which has only six per cent of the population of the Globe, and which has only seven per cent of the land of the earth, produces seventy per cent of the copper, sixty-six per cent of the oil, seventy-five per cent of the corn, fifty-two per cent of the coal, forty per cent of the iron and steel, eighty-five per cent of the automobiles, twenty-three per cent of the wheat, operates forty per cent of the world's railroads, and sixty per cent of all the telephones of the world are in the United States.

I say to you this morning, it is a marvelous thing to be in the midst of these great world events, and to be an American. Therefore I heartily congratulate you because you have desired to take a part in one of the greatest governments of the world, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and indirectly in the government of the United States.

It is a source of great pleasure to me to renew acquaintance with you, to look into your kindly faces, and I am really glad to be with you today.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Stites. The gentleman still possesses the silver-tongued attributes with which he charmed us in 1917.

RECESS.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now take a recess until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. ALLAN D. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:25 o'clock P. M.) the House took a recess until 4:30 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4:30 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has received a letter from Mr. F. E. Mallery, in which he states that he was not recorded as voting on House Bills Nos. 345, 382, 385, 139, 375, 201, 121 and 339. The gentleman says that he voted "aye" on all these bills, and wishes that the matter be noted in the Legislative Journal.

Very frequently, when the rolls are called, the members do not answer in a clear and distinct voice to the roll. The result is their votes are not recorded. This is not due to the neglect of the Clerk, but rather to the inefficiency of the members—I might rather say, the lack of attention of the members.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

An Act amending section five hundred and fifteen of an act approved May eighteenth, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred and nine) entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" so as to modify the scope of the prohibition against levying of taxes or incurring of debts for certain purposes while any proceeding for a change of boundary lines affecting any school district is pending.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, is there any one here who can explain the provisions of this bill and the purposes of it?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baldrige, asks to have this bill explained.

Mr. CHARLES A. REBER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been passed by the Senate. The borough of Northampton Heights has been annexed by the city council and under present legislation the school board is prevented from issuing any school bonds while there are court proceedings, and this is to prevent that condition in the city of Bethlehem. The schools of Bethlehem are over-crowded and at the last election they voted to increase the amount to $868,000 to put up a new school building. There is a suit in court at the present time fighting this, but according to the laws of the State, even though the citizens of Bethlehem have voted for this bond issue to have them put up a school building, they cannot do it and this law will help them, because that case may drag along for years. If the school board does not place these bonds it is felt that it will interfere with the education of the children of Bethlehem. That is the idea, to allow the Bethlehem School Board to advertise now to sell these bonds to put up new buildings.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES A. REBER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BALDRIGE. I would like to ask the gentleman if the election procedure of that town annexed the school district?

Mr. CHARLES A. REBER. The school district is responsible for what the city council does. They did not want to annex. They claim that they will fight to a finish. If they do, it will take one or two years until it is settled. In the meantime, these bonds will be held up and it will be of no use at all as it will be too late then.

Mr. BALDRIGE. This bill is what I thought it was, but I wanted to have somebody explain it in particular before speaking against it. The reason why I speak against this bill is because it will affect very much every borough and township in Allegheny County surrounding the City of Pittsburgh. You all know of the attitude of the City of Pittsburgh towards the boroughs and townships of Allegheny County. Ever since the session of 1911 they have been trying to put through the Pennsylvania Legislature some legislation which will permit the City of Pittsburgh to gobble up those boroughs and townships surrounding Pittsburgh. We have there in that League of Boroughs and Townships sixty-six boroughs and fifty-four townships, including the City of McKeesport and Duquesne which at that time was a borough. This league is opposed to any annexation legislation. As I take this measure, it is nothing more than a club to force the people to submit to forcible annexation. There has been litigation in the courts to prevent that annexation. As long as that legislation is in existence the people outside of the municipality cannot spend a dollar for new school properties in the way of buildings or buying ground. It is a club to force something that they don't want. I think it is unjust.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. CHARLES A. REBER. Mr. Speaker, I move this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PRESENTATION OF TOKEN TO HONORABLE FRANK B. MCCLAIN.

The PRESIDENT. This being the hour fixed by the Senate for the presentation of a token to Hon. Frank B. McClain, the Chair appoints the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. Haldeman, and the Senator from Northampton, Mr. Hackett, a committee to escort the former Lieutenant-Governor to the bar of the Senate at this time.

Mr. HALDEMAN. Mr. President, we have the honor to present Hon. Frank B. McClain.

The PRESIDENT. Governor McClain in 1894 the people of Lancaster city desired to be well represented in the legislature. In casting their eyes about they found a young man in you. You were elected by a splendid majority at that time. You so inspired the confidence of your people that you were re-elected in 1896, in 1898, in 1900, in 1902, in 1904, in 1906, and in 1908, and during those many years of service as a member of the House of Representatives, and in the session of 1907 as its Speaker, you reflected credit upon both your District and to the Commonwealth. Before you had finished your session in 1910 you resigned to accept the position of Mayor of the City of Lancaster, and you again rendered service to your city so that the people, appreciating those services, re-elected you for a second term as Mayor of the City of Lancaster. Before you had completed your second term as Mayor the people of this Commonwealth, appreciating the importance of having a presiding officer in the Senate who was worth while, the Republican Party of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania selected you as its candidate and you were elected as the Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth in the elections of 1914. During the four years that you presided over this body every man who was a member of it learned to love you and respect you. During the last two years of your service as Lieutenant-Governor you again demonstrated your worth by looking carefully after the interests of the Commonwealth in the expenditure of approximately two millions of dollars in the warfare work of the State. The people can take one lesson from this, because you are the product of the common schools of the Commonwealth and your training came in your day school and in the school of experience and practical training. The Members of this Senate do not care that that service shall go unrewarded. When I say unrewarded I do not mean that we desire to compensate you in dollars and cents, but we do want to compensate you with the respect and esteem of the Members of this body, and when the Committee in charge of selecting a token for you came to consider what would be most desirable they appreciated the songs of "Sweet Marie," "Sweet Adeline" and "Mother Machree" and they naturally turned their minds towards sweet music. They have, therefore, selected this baby grand piano, with the thought that you could take it to your home in Lancaster and in your declining years you may recall the many pleasant memories you have had at Harrisburg, by rehearsing the songs to which I have referred, and let it carry with it the memories of the Senate here and may we have in return the respect and honor which we know you have always given us. I hope you will accept this token with the appreciation of the Members of the Senate, and may it ever be a comfort to you as it is a joy that we have the pleasure of presenting it to you.

Mr. McCLAIN: Mr. Lieutenant-Governor: To have a presentation of this character made by an old Friend, and long-time Colleague in the General Assembly, like yourself, gives the gift added significance and value.

In the language of Bobby Burns, applied to the part you and I have played in the Legislative life of Pennsylvania.

> "We twa ha'e run aboot the braes
> And climb the hill the 'gither
> And many a canty day I'd—> Ha'e we spint wi'e air anither."

"On the way up" my step has been but a short one in advance of yours, and spurred on as you have been by a laudable ambition and possessing, as you have possessed the abilities joined with the qualities of mind and heart, that make for Success in Public Life, your step has never faltered, or slipped, and at this moment you are deservedly enjoying well-earned and rightful place in The Sun; and my fervent Wish is that the Memory of past Blessings, and Successes may preserve and stimulate your Hope of higher honors in the days yet to come.

The kind things you have said of me personally, and your references to my official conduct as the President of this Senate for four years, naturally please me greatly, even though in the generosity of your big heart you accord me a merit in excess of my deserving.

The selection of this kind of a gift for me was a most happy one. I have always had a fondness for Music, and that fondness has been shared by the partner of my joys and sorrows. With this addition that she, different from myself, is killed in the manipulation of Musical Instruments, the Piano in particular, and her deft touch in days gone by taught me how to better understand the Music of the Birds. Therefore, Gentlemen of The Senate, your imagination will interpret better than my tongue can tell, the emotions with which she views the gift.

Just think of it Gentlemen, as you take into consideration the approaching "drouth," the coming of that time when from the grains of the fields, and the juice of grape there will no longer come, those "spicy distillations" which inspire joyous vocal symphony, that I will be sure of a melodious accompaniment, and the solace that comes with the same whenever I choose to lift my voice into song to the "damp sentiment" of "The Old Oaken Bucket that hangs in the Well," or on the other hand, should my fancy or thirst suggest instead, "Nobody Knows How Dry I am."

I will not take up time repeating the sentiments I expressed concerning my Associations with the Members of this Body during the four years I have the honor to be its President, which sentiments you will recall I gave utterance to on the twenty-first of January of this year, the day I was "mustered out" and handed over the symbol of The Senate's authority to the eloquent gentleman who succeeded me and who in your name has presented me with this gift.

Let me only say in addition to what I said then, that—an old-time philosopher, Isaac Walton, once said, "Doubtless God could have made as good a berry as the strawberry, but doubtless, he never did." Doubtless, there could somewhere in the world, be a body in which membership could be as delightful as membership in the Senate of Pennsylvania, but doubtless, no such body exists.

I plead no surprise because it has been a fixed custom in this body to thus honor its President at the completion of his term of office, but for all that, gentlemen of the Senate, there is a look on your faces, and "a feel in the air" here at this moment, that "goes right to the spot where I live at."

Costly as is the gift, its money value is the cheapest thing connected with it. Its great value,—a value that all the wealth of Golconda could not buy, is the warm friendship which the gift itself breaths forth, and the spirit which prompted its giving. "'Tis not the weight of jewel or plate, or the fondle of silk, or fur,—'Tis the spirit in which the gift is rich. As the gifts of the wise men were, and when we are not told whose gift was gold, or whose was the gift of myrrh."

I know not what my fate may provide me, whether I may ever return to important public station, or whether my lot shall be to rest in serene private oblivion. But come what may, here's a grasp of my hand for you, gentlemen of the Pennsylvania Senate, and your names like beads told one by one, my heart will ever repeat.

RECESS.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

RESOLUTIONS STATE COUNCIL OF FRATERNAL PATRIOTIC AMERICANS RELATING TO SUNDAY CLOSING.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following resolutions:

To the Honorable Members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania:

Whereas many of the foreign born citizens of our land still cling to the customs and habits of the country of their birth and innocently violate the statutory laws of this country and land of their adoption, thereby shocking the sensibilities and habits of the American people and

Whereas it is the hope and desire that all law abiding citizens shall be governed by the same laws and

Whereas and violation of the above precepts in various localities throughout Pennsylvania, more particularly in those places where there is a large preponderance of foreign born people, the stores and business houses and places of public character are wide open on Sunday, the same as the general week day, wherein and whereat, people buy, sell and transact, not only for the absolute necessities of life, but for ordinary trade in merchandise in the belief, as generally understood by them, that there is no law to forbid such business transactions, still in other localities in the same state, no such action or practice is permissable or allowable, thereby discriminating in favor and advantage of the foreign born citizens over those native born.

Therefore be it resolved, that the state Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans, respectfully petition your Honorable bodies to enact into some form and direction a law whereby such unjust and unfair discrimination can be wholly forbidden.

Be it further resolved, that it is not our intention or desire to ask the enforcement of what is known as the "Blue Laws of 1794," but only for a wise and just enactment of a reasonable law forbidding the general transaction of trade and commerce on the Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday, in various localities throughout this Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted by the State Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans,

GEO. S. FORD, State Council Secretary.

Which was referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

RESOLUTIONS OF STATE COUNCIL OF FRATERNAL PATRIOTIC AMERICANS RELATING TO USE OF RED FLAG AND PUBLICATIONS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES.

He also laid before the Senate petitions of the State Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans, as follows:

To the Honorable members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania:

Whereas The general unrest of the peoples throughout the civilized world is due to the recent world wide war and of its ending in so sudden a manner, whereby an hysteria and nervous condition has arisen in and among many of the people of our country to its disadvantage and injury and

Whereas Such conditions unfortunately lend to tumultuous gatherings and the spreading of propagandam which is injurous to the people as a class and the weakening of the institutions of our land and

Whereas Whenever it is necessary to have on display an emblem of a national character, it should be that one which protects all those who follow its lead and respects the cause and country which it represents, regardless of race, politics or religion, and of which standard there is but one such flag—the Stars and Stripes of the American people and

Whereas The Red Flag is a representative emblem of anarchy and disorder and the disregard of law and is used by those who are generally the opponents of an organized people and is displayed frequently for a sinister design, therefore be it,

Resolved That the State Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans respectfully petition your honorable bodies to enact some law whereby it shall at least be a misdemeanor for anyone or any number of persons or any body politic or organization, to carry, use or display a red flag in any public or private building, or in any public or private place, field, lot or common, or to carry or wave the same in, upon or along any passage way, public highway, street or common or on the occasion of any gathering of any people in any of such places or on such occasion.

Respectfully submitted by the State Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans,

GEO. S. FORD, State Council Secretary.

To the Honorable members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania:

Whereas The highest ideals of the American people are more readily attained by familiarity with the institutions of America and its history and their traditions and

Whereas Many of our people are foreign born and unfortunately cling to their native tongue, even after long years of residence within our midst, wherein and whereby they gain their livelihood and rear their families and thereby forego a study of the English language and

Whereas It has been the trend of thought and action that the institutions and prosperity of the American people can be preserved and its cherished institutions protected by clinging to all that is truly American and

Whereas It is the fact many of those who have become Americans by naturalization and their children are inclined to follow the reading of newspapers, magazines and periodicals printed and published in their foreign language or languages other than the English, to the exclusion of the English papers, magazines and periodicals, therefore be it,

Resolved That the Fraternal Patriotic Americans earnestly request your honorable bodies to enact a law whereby the publication and distribution of newspapers, magazines and periodicals from and after January 1, 1920, in other than the English language shall only be permitted by payment of $1.00 per copy on every such newspaper, magazine or periodical, so as aforesaid published and distributed.

The said tax to be paid each month at the end thereof to the treasurer of the county wherein such publication and distribution is made; said tax to be collected as ordinary taxes and debts, as now by law collectable.

The terms of such law to be in such manner and way as your honorable bodies shall deem best, all of which is respectfully submitted by the State Council of Fraternal Patriotic Americans,

GEO. S. FORD, State Council Secretary.

Which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

We beseech Thee for the spirit of interpretation, and as we cast our eyes eastward and think of the metropolis of this State, with its millions, and think of him who founded it in the spirit of true Christian liberty, broad and generous, making this State a haven of refuge for all and founding the City of Brotherly Love, that is so often spoken of in jest but is so serious when we understand it aright, grant that the true spirit of brotherly love may prevail, not only there, but throughout this whole Commonwealth; and as our eyes go westward to the great city on the other border, teeming with activity and life, furnishing and ministering to the wants of men, help us to think of him in whose name it was founded, and grant that these men likewise may become Commoners, seeking the welfare of the millions of this State, and may there be found in this body at this hour and place the spirit of both united in all. Amen.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The Speaker. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I rise to a question of personal privilege for the purpose of making an announcement. Every two years when we meet, it has been the custom of the Legislative Sons of St. Patrick to hold a dinner here in the City of Harrisburg. This year this dinner will take place at the Penn-Harris Hotel, on Tuesday Evening, March 18.

The Governor has signified his willingness to be present upon that occasion, if nothing serious interferes.

The invitations for this dinner are being sent to the members of the Senate and the House, and we are this evening engaged in seeing that each and every one receives an invitation.

As Secretary of the Committee, I would ask that you comply with the request to be present, as we hope to give you a very excellent evening. I would ask, on behalf of the committee, that you let us know as soon as possible whether or not you intend to be present, so that we can make proper arrangements for our comfort and pleasure. We hope that each and every member will be present on that occasion, and I assure you that you will have an elegant time.

The Speaker. The Chair would state at this time that this is not only a dinner but also an institution in the Legislature. Every member of the House is invited and is expected to be present. The Chair assures you that you will have a fine time at this dinner.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. PALMER asked and received unanimous consent to call up at this time House Bill No. 169, file folio 347, on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar, by Mr. Palmer,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act establishing in certain counties a board for the assessment and revision of taxes prescribing their powers duties and salaries, providing for appeals from assessments and abolishing the office of city borough township and ward assessors

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill if the commissioners, the county commissioners of the county, are appointed or elected by the people?

Mr. PALMER. Elected by the people, as you know.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Do you believe that the people in making this choice at any time make a mistake in electing the county commissioners?

Mr. PALMER. Once in a while.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Occasionally?

Mr. PALMER. Yes, sir.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Is it true if this bill is passed that the county commissioners will appoint these sub-assessors?

Mr. PALMER. The sub-assessors are appointed by the board of revision.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. May I ask would there be influence exercised by the county commissioners in the appointing of these sub-assessors?

Mr. PALMER. No, sir.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: If you will recall, this bill was put to the test a few weeks ago. My regret is that a bill of this kind, the life of a bill of this kind is placed in jeopardy for the second time in this session. As I elicited from the sponsor of this bill, the people elect the county commissioners; at the present time the people elect the assessors, and I am here to say, and sticking closely and adhering to our republican form of government, that we as a whole never regret that we have the prestige within our hands to elect the assessors; and with that same view in mind, we never regret that we have that same power to elect our assessors. If it is right and proper for the people to elect their county commissioners, why is it not right for the people to elect their assessors? This is really the sum and substance of this bill, taking away from the people the power that they already have.

Gentlemen of the House, if there ever was a time in the history of the Republic better suited for the defeat of a bill of this type, it is in this present hour. It seems to be the intention and the clamor of the human mind today to repose in the hands of the people all the power that belongs to the people.

I am opposed to this bill because it takes from the people what rightly belongs to them. Inherently, the people have a right to elect their assessors, and we are doing an injustice to the people to legislate in this body a law that will take from them their right to select their servants at the polls. I trust that you will vote down this bill, so that the people may know we are in accord with the time, and that we are here to conserve the rights of the people against any clique or any faction that may try to take from them the power which now belongs to the people. I ask you in all sincerity, gentlemen, to defeat this bill.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, the object of this bill, as I explained at some length the last time it was up, is to centralize the control, for the purpose of obtaining a uniform and equitable assessment, a uniform assessment that will be just and equitable. If the argument of the gentleman from Lackawanna (Mr. David F. Davis) holds true, then the Highway Commission of Pennsylvania should be elected by the people: the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States should be elected by the people; the Secretary of State, and so on down, should be elected by the people. I wonder if the gentleman thinks it would an enlightening question when he asks me if the county commissioners appoint the men in the office of the board of revision. It is just as reasonable as it is to expect that the chief officer of the Commonwealth, or of the United States, our President, would attempt to dictate to those whom he has put in charge of Departments as to who shall hold a clerkship.

As I explained some time ago, the opposition to this bill comes from the assessors. The assessments have not been uniform. When you go into a community where an assessor elected by the people assessed properties at ten per cent. of their valuation, and another assessor in another part of the same community assessed them at sixty-two per cent. of their valuation, their could not be uniformity. We should try to reach an equitable assessment, a uniform assessment, which would be for all a just assessment. The gentleman from Lackawanna, learns no object lesson from the bill in Luzerne County, but there it has passed and is giving great satisfaction, and everybody within the confines of Luzerne County now believes it has been a good measure for every taxpayer in that county. The gentleman may oppose it because there may be enough strength among the assessors to vote against it, but it is after all a meritorious measure.

That is the main question before you whether or not it will make a uniform assessment and therefore a just assessment. In all the attacks which have been made upon this bill, the argument that has been advanced has been solely political and I wish to say that I do not want to indulge the patience of this House any further in asking them to hear me today on this measure. I appeal to you for its support because I sincerely believe in the virtue of my measure and I ask you to support this bill and help me to enact it into a law.

Mr. BRENDLE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I ask you to give your attention to this bill, as I am a member from Berks County and I say that in Berks County we are entitled to certain consideration, as if this bill is passed it automatically affects Berks County. We know that the bill has been given political consideration and we want to appear before the people as opposing this legislation and we ask that this Legislature refuse to pass this bill as we know that it is not a legitimate measure and we are trying to bring your attention to it. On the twenty-fourth day of February the Hon. Mr. Sarig, the member from Berks County, requested the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Palmer, to amend the bill so that Berks County would not oppose it, but the answer that Mr. Sarig received to this request was that if this bill did not suit Berks County that Berks County should oppose it, and we are here from Berks County, as the result of that answer, to oppose this bill, as our county is opposed to it. We know that Berks County has forty-four townships, twenty-six boroughs and eighteen city wards. Would it be fair for two men to go to work to make ninety-six appointments and create the greatest political machine in Berks County, the greatest local autocracy that could ever be established in a rural district. We are trying in this local district to oppose this measure in this local district and are opposed to the creating of a local autocracy. It is a shame and a disgrace to stand here and bring before you a bill that is not wanted in our county and while our boys are returning from Europe we want to have them come back feeling that you have not turned this world upside down. We want you to make them feel that when they have been in Europe serving their country for one dollar a day ,that no such autocracy shall be established in their district. We hear of the untold wealth of Schuylkill County; its wealth in the bowels of the earth. Schuylkill County is the richest county in the Commonwealth and we know that it is poor judgment and poor management to have Schuylkill County foist this kind of a measure upon our district, with its sixteen thousand voters, while Berks County has twenty-thousand voters and you take away a privilege from the twenty thousand voters and it is a poor arrangement for you men to do that. We are here to make it clear to you that it is dangerous; it is a dangerous piece of legislation ,and I pray and hope that you will vote down this bill. In my opinion it is a damnable bill and a bill that does not serve our constituency. We do not want to have this disgrace with ninety-six jobs and we should in passing on this bill vote it down. Berks County should not be persecuted through the fact that Schuylkill County wants this bill. In conclusion, I wish to say that Berks County does not want this measure and that we in our county will not tolerate it if it is possible for us to bring about its defeat. I pray that the honorable members of his House will help to vote down this dangerous piece of legislation.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I admit that Westmoreland is a little hard to find, but in as much as the gentlemen of the House know, as some of you may have been present when this bill was formerly discussed and fairly defeated two weeks ago, I wish to take up just a moment of your time to set forth the views of Westmoreland County regarding this piece of proposed legislation. Westmoreland County, as you know, is one of the counties which would be affected by this bill. Our county is thoroughly and decisively opposed to it believing that the present system, if not perfect, is far preferable to the bill which is proposed, and believe also that the proposed measure would lead to the creation of a lot of high-salaried officeholders without material benefit. Once there was a proud father who, after several sleepless nights with a wailing boy, came home with a bottle of sleep-producing medicine. When he brought it home his wife asked him about it and wanted to know if he was going to give it to the baby and was opposed to it and said it would not be good for it. He said, "Don't wory; I did not get it for the baby; I'm going to take it myself." Therefore I say if Schuylkill County were only going to take this remedial medicine itself we might have no objections; it would be their own funeral, but Schuylkill County admits that Westmoreland County also must take it and I am here to say to you gentlemen that Westmoreland County is all right as it is. Look how peacefully we slept last Tuesday. I say to you that today we are perfectly wide-awake and back in the ring and you are going to see Westomeralnd just as she was before. That is merely a little digression. It was three weeks ago that we took the joyful tidings to our assessors that this House had passed a bill raising their wages to five dollars a day. Must we now go back and tell them that they are to be ripped out of office to make room for a lot of appointed men, appointed with all the possibilities of the creation of a machine. Must we go back and tell the janitor of our courthouse that he must provide more room, under its already crowded space for a new board or for additional high-priced engineers. Westmoreland County does not need it. We are satisfied with the present situation and we ask of you not to force down our throats a dose that we dont' want.

Mr. POWELL. Some two weeks ago, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, in addressing this House I made a statement something like this: That I was at a loss to understand as to why any man would oppose a bill of this kind. I am more surprised tonight to hear certain men declare to the House in more vicious terms than ever as to why a bill of this kind should not become a law. One gentleman has quoted that on account of the high-salaried officer that would be one of the board of three that would have charge of the appointments, and the other gentleman makes a remark to the effect that it is destroying something that belongs to the people. I want to read to you, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, facts and then you can vote accordingly: "Mr. Richard Powell. Dear Sir: I have your letter of February 25th, asking for information as to the valuation of Luzerne County under the old system of making assessments for this county. For the year 1912, the last year under the old system, the valuation of Luzerne county was $161,834,852.00. The assessment for the year of 1913, the first triennial assessment made by the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, or the new system, the valuation of Luzerne County"—bear this in mind, gentlemen—"was $312,637,520.00. You will note the vast increase in the assessments as noted above, which was principally brought about by readjustments and equitable assessments for the large corporations of this county; in fact, one large corporation's taxes, in assessments, was raised approximately $40,000,000.00."

Now, gentlemen, can you conscientiously vote against a bill of this kind? We have worked under it since the year of 1912, and it has been very satisfactory to Luzerne County. Gentlemen, I cannot see for the life of me why you should not support it.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: In my opinion this bill is not a simple readjustment of assessments in Schuylkill County, but it is a change of political system in Schuylkill County. Now, if the newspapers have any judgment of the situation in Schuylkill County, it is now well complicated. But this bill would create a system directed at the foundation of government, a representative government, not a bossed government. It is not particularly a system for one county but a bossed system for the State. This bill would create in Schuylkill County, with the purpose of after awhile—or perhaps now it may be intended to create a system—which would make appointees in every district in every county represented here, and you men are not here representing some boss back in your county. Don't forget yourself long enough to make yourself a boss's catspaw; but you are here representing a constituency, and that constituency will notice how you vote, and on what you vote. I believe the day is past when a political boss in Schuylkill County can say what legislation shall be meted out for us in Cambria county or to you in Erie county, or to you in Crawford or some place else. I believe this is the most vicious bill, to my knowledge, ever presented here in this House. This bill would at once take away from us at one stroke, one of the representative phases of our government,—that of levying assessments on our property for schools, for roads, for counties, and for all other taxes except mercantile taxes. This is not a Schuylkill County measure. This is a broad, tremendous measure which affects every district, which affects every man here; and I ask you to weigh this carefully before you throw yourself into this maelstrom, because there would be created in a county two commissioners who would decide all the assessors for that county and they would name those heads. Now, it might not be so bad and then again it might be terrible. I can see how the school taxes, road taxes, county taxes, all taxes might be so levied as to intimidate the very people who are those you represent here. If you really believe in representative government, if you believe you trust those people back home, if you dare to trust them, then vote against this bill. It is absolutely not a bill of the people nor a bill for the people. It strikes at the root of representative government absolutely and most viciously. I have never seen the like of it. There are bills here which would raise some men's salaries which you might object to because you thought them too high; but this bill, if you vote for it, will say to your constitutents. "You are not fit to choose the men who represent you here." Are they fit to choose us and say they will trust us with the job? Whether or not they make a mistake is for them to judge. They will render a decision on that matter and they will render a decision in this matter with regard to how you vote. I believe, gentlemen, that you cannot say to the people,—that you cannot tell them that they are not fit to elect their officers; that you dare not go back home and tell them "you are ignorant and you are unfit to choose these assessors by your vote."

There is another phase to this bill. This bill is political. It is not simply a desire to correct unjust assessments.

It is simply the desire to put into the hands of a few what we would have in the hands of many. Do not forget that those who fought to maintain a democracy would be much interested in this measure. If we believe in representative government, if we believe in the democracy as we have been claiming that we fought to save the world for democracy then we better be careful that we save democracy for the world and do not come in here with a bill that will do away with that. This is a representative government. As a representative of the people, I would like to vote as my conscience dictates. I believe I can only serve my people by voting for their interests and realizing that they are able and fitted to elect their other representatives as well as their representatives in this House; and I ask you sincerely and honestly to forget the man back home who wants to control your vote: loosen yourself from your shackles, unyoke that thing about your neck that tells you to come here and vote for this bill and say that you will vote for the people back home; for I know if you put this power in the hands of a few men they may juggle the assessments according to the dictates and policies of the men who control them and the affairs in their county. All I claim is a right for the people to choose their assessors with a view to obtaining a just and equitable assessment. Gentlemen, I appeal to you to defeat this bill. Settle this kind of legislation for once and all.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, (Mr. Horne).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlemen from Cambria, (Mr. Horne), permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether I understood the gentleman correctly when he said something in his address about making the world safe for democracy?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I believe I referred to that.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask, does the gentleman's recollection go back to 1917 when he introduced a bill to prohibit the smoking of cigarettes in Pennsylvania?

Mr. HORNE. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think his memory is correct.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman further, how about the liberty of the people there?

Mr. HORNE. Well, Mr. Speaker, I gave them their choice and they voted on it here. I did not object to their doing it.

Mr. PALMER. Now, Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, (Mr. David F. Davis).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, (Mr. Davis), permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lackawanna whether he knows the county commissioners in his county.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I do very well.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he knows anything about that office or the administration of that office in Lackawanna county.

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, to some extent.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he knows that the Lackawanna county commissioners are employing real estate assessors on a basis of sixty dollars a day to readjust what these assessors have done in his county?

Mr. DAVID F. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, the people of Lackawanna county do not know that.

Mr. PALMER. Then, Mr. Speaker, I will tell the gentleman something they do not know up in Lackawanna county.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as this question has been debated at length on two different days, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia does not appear to be properly seconded.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I am surprised when my colleague from Lackawanna makes the statement that the people as yet do not know that our County Commissioners are spending sixty dollars a day, to correct the assessments as returned by the assessors elected by the people. It has been published in the press for many days, the names of the experts have been mentioned, together with their schedule of wages per day, which amounts to twenty dollars. I happen to know from experience that the twenty-two men elected in the City of Scranton to make the city assessment for the county have returned in years past a total of twelve millions under the board of five which are appointed by the mayor, showing conclusively that the board of assessors which has been appointed, has done much more efficient work in every case than the individuals elected by the people. I think this is a very meritorious measure, and we from Lackawanna County, who have looked up the figures, know what we are talking about. We are sorry the bill does not include us, as we would like to profit by the experience of these other counties.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, in replying to the sponsor of this bill, for whom I entertain the most kindly regard, I would say that I have some faint recollection of the bill about which he spoke. Unfortunately, that bill did not come before this body, and, therefore, we did not have the will of this body of men. Now we have a measure before us that is being submitted to the judgment of this body, and I trust you will handle it with the same sincerity as that bill. If I presented a bill and you did not believe in it, if you did not think it was right, I would be only too glad to have it defeated, and I would cast no reflection upon or have an unkindness for those who voted against it.

Now, I have been solicited by a great many people to vote against this bill. I have not been solicited by any one to vote for this bill. I have not read any petition nor have I heard any petition read in this House from people asking for the passage of this measure. Some people have intimated that this is a sort of Republican measure. Now you people do not believe that the Republican party of the State of Pennsylvania would dare go to the people and say to them, "Gentlemen of the Republican party, we have decided that you are not fit to elect your officers, you are not fit to elect the legislators, and hereafter the Governor will have to appoint them. You are not fit to elect the assessors, and we will, therefore, take it out of your hands and put it in the hands of a few men in the State of Pennsylvania to do this job for you." Something was said awhile ago about the President of the United States appointing certain officers, but according to this bill all officers will be appointed. If you vote to support this bill you vote to destroy democracy and representative government, and the day will come when you will not be here representing your constituency, but will be here as appointees. I ask again that you vote this bill down, just as I would have asked you to vote down the cigarette bill, or any other bill in which you did not have faith.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. SPEAKER, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General

Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the poem composed by Doctor Will George Butler entitled "Old Pennsylvania of Mine" and which is as follows

Old Pennsylvania of mine
I bow me at thy sacred shrine
And there beneath God's vaulted dome
I swear a vow for home sweet home
The Keystone State that binds the whole
With pride we look upon thy scroll
And read among the battle scars
Thy glory writ in golden stars
Within the shade of Forte Duquesne
In peace the farmer sows his grain
And bending harvests richly grow
Where Susquehanna's waters flow
Where once the red man held his rule
Now reigns the common public school
And where Wyoming's warcries rang
Reverberates the anvil's clang
I love thy forest-covered hills
Where sing the symphonies of mills
Where coal and iron and stone and wood
Were stored by Him who called them good
I love the thrift that seeks these stores
Wrought by the sons of many shores
Who by their sweat of brow and brawn
Have brought us to the breaking dawn
The great red dawn O men of toil
That glows above the battle's spoil
Was first discerned by sons of Penn
Who here declared the great Amen
Through Valley Forge's winter's snows
Through Gettysburg's deep bitter throes
The marshalled messengers of light
Set pinioned darkness into flight
We thought it but a nation's birth
But now we know that all the earth
Was waking to the reveille
That ushers in the golden day
And so thy Independence Bell
Proclaims the tidings "God moves well"
And sings with all earth's flags unfurled
The holy freedom of the world
In Flanders' fields in Picardy
In Saint Gobain in Italy
Thy martyred sons were glad to fall
That Liberty might live for all
Old Pennsylvania to thee
The world stands debtor purged and free
To thee we pledge our heart and hand
The fairest State in all the land

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAGILL. Last week when this bill was called up I asked permission to interrogate the sponsor. I shall not take time to do that this evening as I have taken the opportunity to make some inquiry to satisfy myself on the point I had in mind. I realize that we are here very largely as scenery, but occasionally a thought does come up and lest it might take root and die from loneliness I want to pass it on. I believe the bill under consideration was passed with the best possible intention, but I do believe without full consideration. I believe that every man in this House is very anxious to pay tribute to whom tribute is due, but I believe that the bill as it reads is not doing justice, in fact that it does an injustice to those concerned. I do not believe that any boy in school would be benefited; I believe he would be seriously injured. He is getting an even break on the fifty-fifty per cent, but now he gets the poor end of thirty to seventy, and there is nothing that can happen that I can find in the bill—in a provision to retain him in that advanced grade after he has advanced and I see no reason why he should be retained there. It is doing him an injustice and he cannot maintain the standard. I have made some inquiry to see what the average grade of promotion is in this Commonwealth, and it is sixty-seven and one-half per cent. I don't believe it is a fair proposition to the boy. I believe the American soldier and sailor deserves all the credit, and I believe he is the fellow who went into battle without his shoulders stooping and his head bowing. I think we have entirely too much poppy cock. May we not, along that line, consider this vote from his standpoint and not from our desire to do him a great favor. I trust that the vote will be considered in that way and voted down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
